Debate to Begin Today on Judiciary Committee's Recommendation of Impeachment.

QUESTION OF TRIAL AT SPECIAL SESSION

Right of Senate to Sit Over-time Challenged—Case is 14th of Kind; Nine Previous Convictions.

WASHINGTON, March 30.—For the fourteenth time in its history, the House was called upon today to take up a recommendation of the Judiciary Committee that it initiate impeachment proceedings.

The charges this time lie against Federal Judge George W. English of East St. Louis, who is accused of high misdemeanors in office.

Of the preceding recommendations for impeachment, considered only nine resulted in conviction. The most notable case, that against President Johnson, resulted in acquittal by one vote.

Five articles of impeachment under this general charge have been laid before the House by the Judiciary Committee after a year's investigation of Judge English's conduct on the bench.

Acting in the capacity of a grand jury on noncriminal accusations not indictable by a grand jury, the House impeached Judge English on the basis of evidence against the Judge which would sit as a jury, acting only on the admissibility of testimony and final determination of guilt.

Congress the Only Court. Congress, performing the highest function in the judicial system, is the only "court" that can interfere with good behavior, the sole restriction on life-term appointments, and mete punishment for violations thereof. Removal from office and disbarment from holding any future public office of honor or trust are the usual penalties.

Four Federal Judges, impeached by the House, have availed themselves of the privilege of resigning from office.

The English case comes before the House with disagreement among investigators as to whether the Judge's acts constitute a course of conduct showing misbehavior, five of the 23 Judiciary Committee members having made known their opposition to impeachment.

The articles of impeachment before the House accuse Judge English specifically of censuring his officials, threatening a jury in court, a tyrannical attack on the liberty of the press, profanity, appointment of C. B. Thomas as sole referee in bankruptcy, changing court rules improperly, corrupt use of bankruptcy funds, unlawful appointment of receivers and ignoring confessed neglect of duties.

Debate to Begin Today. Debate on the impeachment of Judge English is scheduled to begin in the House today. A majority vote is necessary to send him to trial.

The legal right of the Senate to sit in special session as a court was raised yesterday before the Senate Judiciary Committee, with a division of opinion developing.

After a lengthy discussion, Chairman Cummings of the Senate committee was authorized to appoint a subcommittee to inquire into the subject. It had been suggested that if impeachment were ordered by the House, the Senate would be called into special session after Congress had adjourned.

Some members of the Senate Committee recalled that a precedent for having the House in session during an impeachment trial was established in 1876, when impeachment proceedings were pending against Secretary of War Belknap.

Plan to Meet Objection. Uncertain as to the legality of early adjournment, with the Senate in special session for the trial, the Judiciary Committee has considered a tentative resolution that the House accomplish its purpose by a recess, later adjourning formally with the Senate.

BLIZZARD HITS SOUTHWEST; SNOW AND CHILLING RAINS

Rocky Mountain Storm Spreads East to Missouri and South to Texas—10 Below Zero in Montana.

By the Associated Press. KANSAS CITY, March 30.—With Easter less than a week away, virtually all of the southwest was covered with snow today. The storm, which had held the Rock Mountain region in its grip since last Wednesday, spread eastward over Kansas, Oklahoma, Western Missouri and Northern Texas, bringing a white blanket, in some places 10 inches deep, with the snow still falling.

A severe drop in temperature accompanied the blizzard. Some damage to fruit trees was reported. Winter wheat, however, is believed to have been benefited by the moisture.

The heaviest snowfall was reported in Kansas. At Topeka the depth measured nine inches this morning and it was still snowing. In the southwestern part of the State, Greenburg and Burkin reported from eight to 10 inches.

Rain fell over western and central Missouri last night, turning to snow as the temperature dropped.

4-Inch Snow in Kansas City. In Kansas City snow was still falling this morning after the ground had been covered to a depth of about four inches.

Oklahoma reported the heaviest snowfall of the winter. Snowdrifts from five to seven feet deep in Western Oklahoma threatened to call into use snow plows to clear the railroad tracks.

At 7 p. m. yesterday, Amarillo, Tex., reported the mercury at 16 degrees below freezing. With already the heaviest snow for March for 20 years, flakes were still falling there late last night.

The cold wave spread southward to the foot of the Texas Plains. Oklahoma reported the heaviest snowfall of the winter. Snowdrifts from five to seven feet deep in Western Oklahoma threatened to call into use snow plows to clear the railroad tracks.

Montana cities have been experiencing the coldest weather for some time and Livingston had the two coldest days, Sunday and Monday, on record since Dec. 27, 1924, when the mercury sank to 10 degrees above zero.

In Arizona the cold wave has been felt at Phoenix took the two coldest days, Sunday and Monday, on record since Dec. 27, 1924, when the mercury sank to 10 degrees above zero.

A four-inch snowfall was reported at Sedalia, where slight damage to fruit is feared. The temperature there at 7 a. m. was 21.

Widespread damage to early fruit has been reported by growers.

NATIONAL DIRECTORATE OF FASCIST PARTY TO RESIGN

Other Members Decide on That Action When President Announces He Will Quit.

By the Associated Press. ROME, March 30.—The national directorate of the Fascist party met this morning under the presidency of Alberto Farinacci, who announced that he would present his resignation as Secretary-General at tonight's meeting of the Fascist grand council. He declared he considered the mission to which he had pledged himself upon assuming the post had been completed.

The other members of the directorate decided unanimously to resign with Farinacci to affirm their complete solidarity.

Premier Mussolini today reiterated his declaration that there will be no parliamentary elections to replace the present Chamber of Deputies. While visiting the Chamber he said emphatically: "No elections! This Legislature must die a natural death."

The board made public a special bulletin showing that Kansas apricots probably were a total loss, while peaches and plums range from a total loss in some southern counties to only slight damage in protected areas and in northern sections. Pears were badly injured in the South. Cherries and apples probably are safe.

Worst Storm of the Winter Hits Springfield, Ill. By the Associated Press. SPRINGFIELD, Ill., March 30.—The worst storm of the winter held the city in its grip this morning. A high wind combined with a heavy fall of snow, made difficult and dangerous going for automobiles and pedestrians.

Traffic Delayed in Peoria, Ill. By the Associated Press. PEORIA, Ill., March 30.—A wet snow that drifted a foot high in many places downtown fell in Peoria early this morning delaying traffic.

Snow Blankets Ground at Des Moines, Ia. By the Associated Press. DES MOINES, Ia., March 30.—Snow, which started falling during the night, blanketed the ground in this section of the State. The snow, which was a heavy fall, however, are free from snow. The temperature was 26 this morning.

Three Inches of Snow at Jefferson City. By the Associated Press. JEFFERSON CITY, March 30.—Snow fell here last night to a depth of three inches. It was the heaviest snowfall at this stage of March in more than 10 years.

Coldest in Country. DALLAS, Tex., March 30.—At Amarillo in the Panhandle last night the mercury went down to 16 degrees above zero and made that city the coldest in the entire country. After the greatest 24-hour snowfall in 18 years, Amarillo today awoke to find itself almost completely covered with snow.

A storm in the Houston section of Houston between 3 and 4 o'clock caused damage estimated at about $250,000. Street cars were stopped, trees were broken, power lines and the residence section was without lights for many hours.

LONDON, March 30.—South American delegates to the Third International in Moscow last month protested strongly. It is learned, when Zinovieff proposed that a policy of individual terrorism be adopted in capitalist states.

The delegates from Brazil and Argentina argued the communists sanctioned mass terrorism, but repudiated individual assassinations. The secret session endorsed Zinovieff, but the incident tended to weaken his position and strengthen that of his opponent Stalin, and there is said to be no chance of the soviet authorities adopting Zinovieff's program.

WOMAN, 36, IS MOTHER OF 20

All Children in Massachusetts Family Are Living.

By the Associated Press. FITCHBURG, Mass., March 30.—Mrs. Louis M. Cross, 36 years old, today is the mother of 20 children. She gave birth to the twentieth child, a 12-pound girl, here last night. Mrs. Cross was married when she was 15. All the children are living.

The body of a woman who was killed last night by a light automobile truck was identified today as that of Mrs. Mary Holmes, 65 years old, a widow, of 4454A Oakland avenue. She was identified by her daughter, Mrs. Mary Rawie, with whom she lived.

She was struck at 8:50 o'clock, in front of 3976 Chouteau avenue, by a truck driven by George Gilttrap, 26, a contractor, of 9520 Baltimore avenue, St. Louis County. Death was almost instantaneous, being caused by a fractured skull.

Gilttrap surrendered to police and was released on bond for the coroner. He said he was driving east in Chouteau when the woman stepped from the south curb and into the path of his machine.

Her death was the forty-fourth motor vehicle fatality of the year—four more than were recorded during the same period of 1925.

7 OR 8 NEW WORDS A DAY CLAMOR TO GET IN DICTIONARY

Lists of Dr. Frank H. Vizetelly, Lexicographer, Include 'Snig,' 'Bumny' and 'Sextacies.'

By the Associated Press. NEW YORK, March 30.—Every day of the year seven or eight new words knock for admission into the dictionary. Within the last two days 17 new words have been submitted to Dr. Frank H. Vizetelly, managing editor of the New Standard Dictionary.

Here they are: Snig—Something one tries to obtain that one has never seen. Brumny—Bogus, phony; as a brumny check.

Chaffouse—A woman who resorts to flattery or coquetry. Dinkum—Real genuine; as dinkum oil.

Dener—Six pence. Midnia—The region of Paris frequented by midnights. Sextacies—The awakening of sex appeal.

Wooltex—A synthetic fiber used as a substitute for wool. Sniffli—A new synthetic fiber. Sportscrapana—A book of sport clippings.

Toghr—An anagram printed on Turkish coins consisting of the letters of the name of Sultan Selim III.

Phillock, brutan, awunk, bruton, beilbum, anicus—All submitted in competition for a new name for one who is cruel to animals. ("Phillock" was the winning name.)

Relatively few of the words get past the editors. The final acid test usually is that of popularity. The newcomers are garnered from many sources—newspapers, books, magazines and technical publications being large contributors.

Experiments show that while the average vocabulary of the man with a limited range is about 3000 words, the business man or skilled mechanic has a vocabulary between 8000 and 10,000, and the college graduate about 20,000.

MAIL ORDER BOOTLEGGER GETS YEAR AND DAY IN ATLANTA

Louis P. Shayne Pleads Guilty of Walker Mercantile Co. Plot in New York.

By the Associated Press. NEW YORK, March 30.—Louis P. Shayne, one of the proprietors of the Walker Mercantile Co., which conducted a country-wide mail order bootlegging business, pleaded guilty in Federal court and was sentenced to a year and a day in Atlanta penitentiary.

Shayne was too ill to stand trial at the time his brother, Albert, and Charles P. Sakin were convicted on March 8. Joseph E. Friedman, inspector of Sherwood, a shoe store, pleaded guilty before trial and was used as a Government witness. He will be sentenced Thursday.

The company, with offices here and in Chicago, distributed liquor to customers in trunks shipped by express. Keys to the trunks were mailed to purchasers upon receipt of payment for the liquor.

FIRST WIFE SUES TO ANNUL MAN'S MARRIAGE TO SECOND

New York Woman Also Seeks $250,000 Damages From Successor for Alienation.

By the Associated Press. NEW YORK, March 30.—Mrs. Estelle M. Clark, first wife of Frank C. Clark, who has made a fortune conducting Mediterranean tours, has filed suit in the Supreme Court in Brooklyn to annul Clark's marriage with his second wife, which took place seven years ago, and to have him restored to his former status as her husband. She also is suing the second wife for $250,000 for alleged alienation of affections.

The first Mrs. Clark says that Clark left her, obtained a divorce at Reno, Nev., and married his second wife, a nurse, at Elko, Nev., on Nov. 3, 1919. The annulment suit, said to be the first of the kind, is based on an allegation that Clark's divorce was obtained through fraud.

Dr. Osbaldeston denied his connection with this romantic figure. There was a bare possibility, he said, that it might be his "half brother," a scapegrace scoundrel whose escapades more than once had caused his embarrassment in confusion in identity.

Then came a gradual, garbled rush of words, the noncommittal admitting the truth. His account of his past, checked by available newspaper records, disclosed the following:

About 1891 he went to New York with his wife and four children, follower and admirer of Bob Ingersoll, and an announced infidel, and opened a massage parlor and saloon at 78 West Forty-sixth street.

In July, 1893, he started New York by advertising for a volunteer for a dangerous surgical experiment. He would pay, he said, $1000 for such a man. Out of 140 applicants, most of them financially desperate victims of the great money panic of that year, one was chosen and sent to two surgeons in Central America. According to the story, they bored a hole in the man's stomach and had quite a time watching the operation of his digestive organs before he died.

Dr. Osbaldeston today admitted his part in this scientific adventure with evident pride.

Wore Priest's Vestments. Until April, 1896, Dr. or "Prof." Osbaldeston, as he was variously known, lived in New York, accumulating a reputation as an erratic individual. Frequently he was reported as having chased his wife and children to the roof of their home and kept them there for hours. Several small mysterious fires in his home never were satisfactorily explained.

During this period he conducted a single-handed war on rival massage parlors in the belief that he was the only real masseur in the city. In the course of his campaign he encountered opposition, and once was said to have been

Special to the Post-Dispatch. ASBURY PARK, N. J., March 30.—Two developments of moment to Dr. Edwin Turner or Dr. Rowe Osbaldeston, Asbury Park's 94-year-old town character, have occurred.

After Gov. Harry Moore's announcement yesterday that he would not sign papers to send him to Binghamton, N. Y., for trial on charges of breaking the Broome County jail in 1881, revelation of the past that forced Dr. Osbaldeston to admit he was the "Professor" Edwin Turner Osbaldeston who figured in bizarre news incidents of 20 to 30 years ago was not so welcome.

The accused man continued to deny his guilt and to reiterate that he had been in Binghamton for his life.

"Why should I go out in the country to steal a horse and cart?" he asked, "when I owned plenty of both at my home in the Adirondacks?"

Makes Disclosures. And with this query the way was opened for questioning the old man about things that had come to light when a search of newspaper records of a quarter of century or more ago revealed the strange exploits of the "Prof." Osbaldeston of the '80's and early Twentieth century.

At first Dr. Osbaldeston denied his connection with this romantic figure. There was a bare possibility, he said, that it might be his "half brother," a scapegrace scoundrel whose escapades more than once had caused his embarrassment in confusion in identity.

General Rally in Stock Prices

Advances of Two to Five Points in First Half Hour of Trading.

By the Associated Press. NEW YORK, March 30.—Three weeks of steadily declining stock prices were followed today by an impressive rally, which carried scores of issues up 2 to 5 points in the first half hour of trading. The recovery was preceded by an irregularly lower opening, due to the execution of overnight selling orders representing the liquidation of weakened marginal accounts.

About a score of issues were depressed to new low levels for the year in the first outburst of selling. The list included such popular issues as Pittsburgh & West Virginia, Kennecott Copper, Allied Chemical, Woolworth, North American Co., Consolidated Gas, Postum Cereal, U. S. Rubber, Marland and International Nickel, all off about 1 to 2 points.

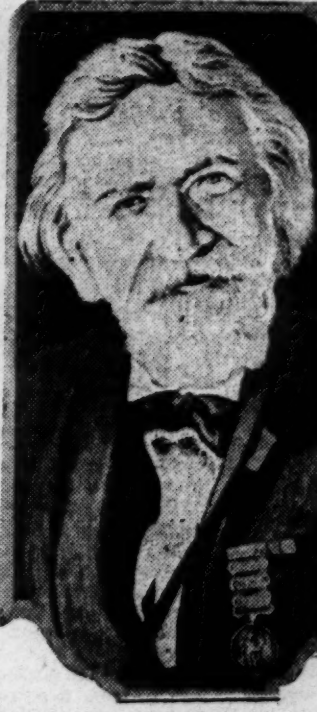

Strong buying support was quickly supplied for U. S. Steel common and other pivotal industrials, which had slipped within the first 15 minutes of trading. This immediately started active short covering in other sections of the list and brought about a general rally in which virtually all shares, including those which were weak at the opening, participated.

General Electric soared 7 1/2 points before the end of the first hour, and DuPont, Sears Roebuck, Woolworth, General Asphalt and Allied Chemical were lifted 3 to 5 points, with scores of others advancing a point or more.

Leading bankers insist that fundamental conditions are sound, pointing to the continuation of record freight car loadings, bank clearings, savings bank deposits and other favorable indices of business.

They admit that earlier expectations have not been altogether fulfilled and that many industries are operating on a relatively small margin of profit, but call attention to the fact that there has been no inflation in commodities; that inventories are low, cash reserves relatively high and commercial bank loans small, with plenty of funds available for all legitimate business needs.

JOHN GIANNOLA IS FREED ON $2500 BOND IN AUTO CASE

Found Here After Madison County Sheriff Withdraws Plea for Arrest in East Side Inquiry.

MET BY LAWYERS AND HIS BONDSMAN

They Had Preceded Him to Federal Building—Machine Found Near Scene of Two Murders.

An hour before John Giannola, wealthy wholesale grocer and sugar dealer, surrendered himself yesterday on a Federal warrant charging interstate transportation of a stolen automobile, Sheriff DeJong of Madison County, Ill., called at Police Headquarters here and personally withdrew a request he had made previously for Giannola's arrest.

The Sheriff's action enabled Giannola to go at liberty on $2500 bond without being questioned as to his knowledge of the identity of the owner of the stolen car, or as to where the bodies of Constable Omer Hockett and John Balke, slain by moonshiners, were discovered in a single grave a week later.

Department of Justice agents, who had been looking for Giannola on the Dyer act warrant in connection with the automobile, had professed themselves unable to find him. His promise, through his attorneys, that he would come in voluntarily to make bond, was the only prospect Sheriff DeJong had of taking him into custody for questioning.

Explains Visit to Police.

The Sheriff explained his visit to headquarters by saying that there was no charge against Giannola and that he no longer wanted to question the St. Louis man. The Madison County grand jury recessed last Wednesday at Edwardsville without returning any indictments, after making an investigation of the Hockett-Balke murders and the relation of the Sullivan farm with the county moonshining industry.

St. Louis Detectives, who had thought Sheriff DeJong would desire to question Giannola about the Sullivan farm lease which was signed "J. A. Gano," particularly since Giannola signed his name "Gano" to the $2500 bond before United States Commissioner Atkins yesterday.

Giannola visited the Federal Building shortly after 3 p. m. yesterday. He was preceded by his brother, Vito, who lives in the Commissioner Atkins' office with Thomas Viviano, bondsman, ready to furnish $2500 security for John's appearance.

Arrested on Street.

Next came Joseph R. McGinnis of East St. Louis, M. M. D. Winkler, attorneys for John. Last came John himself, accompanied by Deputy United States Marshal Thomas Elton, who said he had arrested Giannola on the street near the Glanzburg-Palazzo Grocery Co. at Seventh and Biddle.

When John signed the name "Gano" to the bond offered by Viviano, Commissioner Atkins asked:

"Is this your name?" "Yes," Giannola replied, "that's the way I write it."

Dubinsky explained that his client, who has been in this country for 15 years and amassed some wealth, could neither read nor write, but that he signed his bank checks "Gano," although the correct form of the name is Giannola.

While Giannola was in the Commissioner's office, Detective Sgt. Edward J. Dowd of the narcotics squad learned of his presence and called headquarters to ask if he was to re-arrest the sugar dealer for questioning by DeJong.

He was told the Madison County Sheriff had withdrawn his request a short time before.

No Other Charge.

It developed then that Sheriff DeJong at headquarters had met Agent Edward J. Dowd of the Department of Justice, and had explained that he withdrew the request because there was nothing in Madison County against Giannola.

John Giannola gave his age as 29 before the Commissioner and his residence as 4812A Maffitt avenue.

John Giannola Eludes Cameras

The St. Louis wholesale grocer, who at one time was sought for questioning in the moonshine inquiry in Madison County, growing out of the Hockett-Balke murders, is in the center shielded by one of his friends.

He said he had been staying at Monongahela, Pa., since the Federal warrant was issued. Agent Dowd had had frequent reports, however, that Giannola had been in St. Louis most of the time agents have been seeking him.

While Vito hovered in the background after the hearing, gesturing to his brother to say nothing, John refused to make a statement to reporters about the case and left the Commissioner's office with a coat thrown over his head to shield him from photographers.

LEAGUE COMMISSION URGES NATIONAL MOVIE CENSORSHIP

Would Protect Children From Films Demoralizing Men-ality and Character.

By the Associated Press.

GENEVA, March 29.—A movement to protect children through-out the world from undesirable moving pictures has been initiated by the League of Nations Advisory Commission on Child Welfare. A resolution was adopted for the creation in each country of central censorship boards composed of educators and parents, which these boards should prohibit the presentation of films tending to demoralize the mentality and character of children and encourage films which develop character. An agreement between the national boards with a view to international introduction of proper pictures was recommended.

U. S. PENSION INCREASE PLAN

It Includes Larger Contributions by Employees to Fund.

By the Associated Press.

WASHINGTON, March 29.—An increase in pensions to retired Government employees and an increase in the contributions to the retirement fund by employees is recommended by a report of the board of civil service, which was forwarded by Secretary Work to Congress.

The report suggests that retirement benefits consist of an annuity of 1 per cent of the average salary of the employee during the last 10 years of his service, multiplied by the years of service, plus an annuity of $20 a year for each year of service up to 20 years. It would limit the pension, however, to 75 per cent of the average salary. Federal employees would contribute 2 1/2 per cent of their salaries instead of 2 1/4 per cent, as at present.

There are 185,622 employees participating in the fund with an annual payroll of $748,000,000.

BLACK SHIRTS' PATRON SAINT

Militiamen Choose St. Sebastian.

By the Associated Press.

ROME, March 29.—Fascist militia—the famous raiding, burning and motor-riding black shirts—have chosen St. Sebastian as their patron saint. He is St. Sebastian, who is often represented in art as pierced by a hundred arrows. This was the martyrdom decreed for him by the Emperor Diocletian when he heard that this captain of his bodyguards had been converting the troops of the palace to Christianity.

The choice of a saint marks another step in the militia's rise to respectability and equality with the regular army. For the militia has the patron in St. George, the infantry one in St. Martin and the artillery St. Barbara. Among their days the respective arms of the service hold high festival.

FORMER JUDGE TRACY, ILL. ONE DAY, DIES

When on Bench, He Assessed Fine Which Sent "Lord" Barrington to Workhouse.

Daniel O'Connell Tracy, former Police Judge and leader in Irish organizations, died last night at the home of his son, Daniel J. Tracy, 1834 Page boulevard. An attack of kidney trouble, which began Sunday, caused death. Judge Tracy was 52 years old. He had made his home with his son since 1913, and for several years before that with a daughter, now deceased, in Louisville.

The funeral will be held at 9 a. m. tomorrow at St. Mark's Catholic Church, Page boulevard and Academy avenue, followed by interment in Calvary cemetery.

He was born in Liverpool, England, and was brought to the United States in childhood, living at different times in New Orleans, California and St. Louis. He was a pupil of Benton School and later a student of St. Louis University and he was admitted to the bar here in May, 1877. In August of the same year he was appointed city attorney, or police court prosecutor. He served in that position six years and in 1885 he was nominated by the Democrats for City Registrar on the ticket headed by David R. Francis for Mayor, and was elected.

Became Judge in 1902.

After his term as Registrar ended in 1889 he was in the private practice of law until 1902, when Mayor William appointed him judge of the Second District Police Court, then at Jefferson avenue and Duane street. In the following year he was appointed judge of the First District Police Court, in the old City Hall, and he served as judge until 1911.

Some of Judge Tracy's decisions were widely discussed. The most famous of them being the one by which he sent "Lord" Barrington to the workhouse.

Barrington, an Englishman, married a young woman of good family whom he met in a St. Louis boarding house. The girl believed him to be the titled proprietor of "Melrose Castle," England. Two of the young woman's brothers, on hearing of the marriage, came here from Kansas City, quickly married her, and one of them kicked him down the front steps of the boarding house, while the other called a policeman.

Heavy Fine Against Barrington.

Barrington, from all accounts, owed no gratitude to his brother-in-law's attack. However, he was Barrington, and not the brother, whom the policeman arrested. In police court the next day, Judge Tracy, after hearing the facts, declared:

"The order of conduct disturbing the peace is broad one. It includes conduct calculated to provoke a breach of the peace. The defendant, by his conduct, had provoked a breach of the peace, and I have fined him." He made the fine heavy enough to keep Barrington in the workhouse for six months.

The decision was generally criticized, and Mayor Wells after a time released Barrington, who thereupon went into the saloon business downtown and cultivated the acquaintance of the racing fraternity. A few months later, Barrington was charged with the murder of James McChann, a racing man, and was convicted at Clarendon and sentenced to death. Gov. Folk commuted the sentence to life imprisonment, and in recent years Barrington was pardoned and required to leave the United States.

An Active Lodge Member.

Judge Tracy was an active and prominent member of the Knights of Father Mathew, a Catholic total abstinence society. He was also active in the Ancient Order of Hibernians and the Knights of Columbus. He was an ardent baseball fan.

He is survived by Mrs. Tracy, who was formerly Miss Caroline Kerman and two sons, Joseph P. and Daniel J. Tracy.

CHARGES NOT PROVEN AGAINST WALL, MAYOR ADMITS

requests left me no choice but to prefer charges against you, upon which the hearing has just been held.

I have reached the conclusion, from the testimony introduced, that no incompetency or lack of integrity on your part, or on the part of Mr. Toensfeldt, has been shown, and I therefore find that all the charges to this effect have not been sustained.

Two Charges Sustained.

On the other hand, I believe, from the evidence, that you made the statement charged against you in Specification 5, and that the charges, seriously reflecting on the honesty of my administration, either in the language, or in substance, and I am of the opinion that the charges are substantiated in view of the opinions written by you, and which you admit having written, was unbecoming the head of an important department of the city government and calculated to bring discredit, not only on your department, but on the entire administration of the city.

I am further convinced, from the evidence, that during your incumbency of the office of Director of Public Utilities, you were guilty of exhibiting a spirit of loyalty and subordination to the head of the administration, and of co-operation with your associates, which are absolutely necessary to a proper and successful conduct of the city's affairs, and I so find. This attitude of mind is the more remarkable in view of the opinions you yourself have publicly expressed.

Failed to Co-Operate.

"You have failed to exhibit any spirit of co-operation either in your dealings with me or your associates of the board, or with your subordinates. Your treatment of Mr. Hest, against whom no serious charges were proven, and who, as I am reliably informed, had worked efficiently in the same department with Mr. Toensfeldt for several years under your predecessor, is characteristic.

Under the circumstances, I am of the opinion, as are your associates on the Board of Public Service, and in this I think you should concur with me, that your usefulness as a public official has become greatly impaired," and that to make his position as a public official more effective, you should request your resignation.

Yours very respectfully,

VICTOR J. MILLER, Mayor.

REPARATIONS TO BE DEBT PAYMENT BASIS

French Minister Says No Settlement Can Be Made Unless Germany Pays.

By the Associated Press.

PARIS, March 29.—France can make no settlement of the inter-allied debts that is not based in some measure on reparation payments from Germany. Finance Minister Poincaré declared in the course of his speech opening the debate on the financial measures in the Chamber of Deputies today.

These terms, the Finance Minister added, should include a safeguarding clause that would give France protection should Germany at any time default.

PARIS, March 29.—The death of the Duke of Orleans brought forth lengthy eulogies by royalist leaders.

"Although of all the men of his rank he probably was the least known in France, the Prince was the greatest Frenchman," declared Leon Daudet, leader of the Royalists. "The Duke of Orleans possessed to the highest degree that personal charm and grasp of public affairs that make leaders of men. Unfortunately he did not live long enough to witness the moment when he could bring his excellent qualities into play."

The succession in the French royal family automatically goes to the Duke of Guise, whose further residence in France is made impossible unless he renounces his claim to the throne. The royalist leaders say there is no reason to suppose he will give up his claims, and accordingly they expect that he will remain abroad after the funeral.

$50,000 JOB AS DICTATOR IN DRAMA OFFERED GOV.

Producers Ask Him to Sign Final Arbitration Between Writers and Managers.

NEW YORK, March 29.—Smith last night was offered a $50,000 job as dictator of the drama. The offer was made by the producers of the Broadway play "The Sign of the Cross," which is to be based on the life of the Virgin Mary. A telegram was sent to the Governor by William A. Brady, one of the producers, asking him to sign a final arbitration between playwrights and producers.

It was the outcome of a meeting of the producers, the proposal being that such final arbitration be given to the Governor. The producers are asking for a salary of $10,000 a week, and his fairness has won the respect of his foes as well as his friends. He is on the level, which is the greatest tribute I can pay to any person."

Campaign Planned Against Those Who Capitalize on Unemployment.

By the Associated Press.

NEW YORK, March 29.—A national campaign against unemployers who capitalize on the distress of the unemployed, charging the highest prices for their services, is being planned by the Metropolitan Life Insurance Co. Dr. Lee K. Frankel, vice president, said today he will per-sonally lead the campaign.

With $25,000 appropriated for the work, a committee of business men, labor leaders and public health workers, is being formed to undertake a survey in the United States and Canada.

TWO TIRE DEALERS AMERGED

Police Follow One to Store of Stolen Tires, Recovered Them.

Defective yesterday afternoon, 75 three stolen tires were recovered from the Square Tire Store, 3428 North Grand boulevard. The store was closed for business, and the tires were found in the back room. Both men insisted they did not know the tires were stolen. William Bowett, president of the tire company, said he was approached by telephone by a man who offered to cause the removal of the stolen tires for $400. He reported the offer to the police, who seized the tires.

DETAILS OF NEW U. R. FRANCHISE PLAN SETTLED

Operating Economies Will Be Necessary in Order to Retain the Present Fare of 7 Cents.

The city administration's bill for franchising the reorganized United Railways of America service plan will be ready for public discussion within two weeks. Essentials of the plan are set forth in the bill, which is expected to be introduced in the city council.

The chief conception, as indicated by the term, "service at cost," is that the city should be permitted to prescribe the character of the service, paying the fare necessary to produce such service.

The other controlling ingredient in the plan is that the company shall be entitled to earn only a fair return on its investment. The valuation fixed by the Missouri Public Service Commission has been tentatively adopted. That sum is approximately $17,000,000. The rate of return will be 7 per cent.

A fare of 7 cents, the present charge, would fall by nearly three-fourths of a cent to produce a 7 per cent return upon $17,000,000. Operating economies would be required to produce such a return.

$50,000 JOB AS DICTATOR OF DRAMA OFFERED GOV. SMITH
Producers Ask Him to Become Final Arbitrator Between Playwrights and Managers' Body.
Specialists to the Post-Dispatch.
NEW YORK, March 29.—Gov. Smith last night was offered a position as dictator of the drama. Under the proposal he would be to the drama what Will H. Hays is to the movies and Kenesaw M. Landis is to baseball. It was said the salary would be $50,000 a year.
A telegram was sent to the Governor by William A. Brady, on behalf of the Theatrical Managing Producers inquiring if he would be willing to serve as a final arbiter between playwrights and producers.
It was the outcome of a suggestion of Arthur Hammerstein at a meeting of the producers. The proposal met with such instant approval that it was said several playwrights, whose consent would have to be obtained, had given their verbal assent. The Governor was spoken of as the high commissioner of Broadway.
"There is no one I know who could be fairer and more impartial than the Governor," Brady said. "He has business acumen, and his fairness as well as his respect for his foes as well as his friends. He is on the level, which is the greatest tribute I can pay to any person."

DETAILS OF NEW U. R. FRANCHISE PLAN SETTLED
Operating Economies Will Be Necessary in Order to Retain the Present Fare of 7 Cents.
The city administration's bill for franchising the reorganized Union Railways upon a service-at-cost plan will be ready for public discussion within two weeks. The chief conception, as indicated by the term "service at cost," is that the city shall be empowered to prescribe the character of service, paying the fare necessary to produce such service.
The other controlling ingredient of the plan is that the company shall be entitled to earn and upon what valuation. The valuation fixed by the Missouri Public Service Commission has been tentatively adopted. That sum is approximately $17,000,000. The rate of return on the investment will be 7 per cent.
Operating Economies Planned.
A fare of 7 cents, the present fare, would fall by nearly three-fourths of a cent to produce a 7 per cent return upon $17,000,000. To produce such a return, the operating conditions and the number of passengers carried would have to be increased. The reorganization committee has expected that the company would be able to accomplish operating economies that will not only permit the fare to stay at 7 cents, but also will improve service.
Speed of cars, careful checking of fares, reduction of unnecessary mileage, and radical reorganization of the company are some of the measures by which it is expected that operating expenses can be reduced.
An outstanding question is the extent to which the city will be able to claim for the city control over service, which was surrendered when the State enacted the Public Service Commission law. At cost now exists, in theory at least, under Public Service Commission control, but the city controls service only as it can prevail upon the commission to order betterments. And, by no means at its command under the present law, can the city compel the commission to order betterments in any manner. A Supreme Court ruling, in effect, has declared that sole control over extensions rests with the company.
Provisions as to Extensions.
Correction of this condition now being sought in the new ordinance. The city would like to have absolute control over extensions—the right to order extensions arbitrarily. One objection that has been raised is that police might turn this power to their own advantage, such as the extension of lines to aid real estate subdivision promotions. It has been suggested that, in case of dispute between city and company, that the question of extension be left to arbitration. The new ordinance will set up machinery for arbitration of disputes in general.
Similarly, the city is seeking as thorough control over service as possible, even to the extent of dictating the routing of the number of cars to be run and other powers that border upon usurpation of operating powers hitherto regarded as inherent with the owners. To what extent the city will be able to dictate service is a question that is delaying publication of the bill.
The city apparently has gained the important concession in the bill—a surrender by the company of that theory of valuation lately emphasized by utilities to greatly swell the sum upon which they are entitled to earn—the theory that whatever the cost of property invested in public service, the utility is entitled to earn on the present-day cost of reproducing that property.
Agreement on Valuation.
The new United Railways franchise provides that additions to the company's capital account shall be only the sum actually expended for new property. All additions to capital are made subject to approval by the city. The basic capital figure of the company contains an allowance upon the reproduction new theory, but in the future the company agrees to claim a return only upon money actually invested in the public service.
Though 7 per cent is agreed upon tentatively for the rate of return, some ways of modifying this rate are being sought. The service-at-cost plan comes nearer to guaranteeing the company a return than any public utility in St. Louis yet has enjoyed. This advantage, it is expected, will be manifest in the interest rate which the company will be required to pay to get new capital. Some provision to modify the 7 per cent return to reflect some of this advantage upon the public, is being discussed.
Similarly, some formula is being sought to reward the company

KILLED BY AUTO GAS
ALFRED BEVIS, 23, DIES OF GAS FROM HIS CAR IN GARAGE
Son of Wealthy Merchant Found Unconscious Under Auto on Which He Had Been Working.
ENGINE RUNNING AND DOOR CLOSED
Artificial Respiration Fails to Revive Him—Funeral Services Set for 2:30 P. M. Tomorrow.
Alfred Bevis, 23 years old, only son of the late Alfred Bevis, wealthy St. Louis merchant, was fatally poisoned by carbon monoxide gas late yesterday when he worked at the engine of his automobile in a closed garage behind the Westmoreland Hotel, Taylor and Maryland avenues.
A hotel employee, sent to call him to the telephone, found Bevis unconscious under the machine, the engine of which was running slowly. His heart was still beating when he was carried to the open air but he was dead when a physician arrived.
Bevis lived at the hotel with his mother, Mrs. Vivian C. Bevis. Two half-sisters also survive, Mrs. Percie Crawford, widow of G. Lacy Crawford, banker and insurance man of St. Louis, who died several years ago, and Mrs. Lydia V. Bevis, both of the Forest Park Hotel.
Miss Elizabeth Boyce, telephone operator at the Westmoreland, said Bevis stopped at her desk at 5 p. m., stating he expected a telephone call and that he would be in the garage working at his machine. At 6:30 o'clock the call came, and Amos Gooch was sent to call Bevis. Gooch, upon reaching the garage, encountered strong fumes. After permitting some air to enter the garage, Gooch went in and dragged Bevis from under the car. Artificial respiration was attempted, but without success.
Bevis was born in St. Louis after his father's death and was educated at Pawling Preparatory School, Pawling, N. Y., Brown and Washington Universities. He was not actively engaged in business, but was the man to determine whether cars should be added to this line, subtracted from that and to give approval to whatever operating plans the company might have.
Consideration also is being given to setting up another body, such as a Board of Control, composed of one representative of the company and the Director of Transportation representing the city, whose decisions would be subject to review by a board of arbitration.
Company Seeking Some Check.
It is known that the company is seeking some check of an absolute control by the city over service. It points out that it would be quite possible for the city to specify a service that would require a rate of fare so high as to drive traffic from the street cars and make the operation of the railways unprofitable at any fare.
However, in other cities one of the chief weaknesses of service-at-cost has been the reluctance of city political administrations to order betterments of service that would result in higher fares. In several such cities, service has been permitted to decline to maintain a fixed low fare.

Probably Will Last Until Wednesday; Vote Rent Bill Violating Many Treaties.
By the Associated Press.
PARIS, March 30.—The financial debate in the Chamber of Deputies, by which an attempt will be made to reach some agreement to straighten out the financial crisis will begin this afternoon. It is not likely that it can be finished before Wednesday night.
The Chamber sat until late last night to vote the rent restriction bill, the twenty-sixth measure of its kind since the war. The Senate had previously passed the bill with modifications. Like the Senate the Chamber insisted on retaining the clause excluding foreigners from benefits of the bill, although Premier Briand pointed out it violated long-existing treaties with the United States, Great Britain and most other nations. The principal persons affected are South American, Italian, Belgian, Spaniards and Portuguese, who are not protected against the exorbitant demands of landlords.
The Chamber voted provisional credits for the month of April.

PRISONER SAYS HE ROBBED 107 HOMES IN SEVEN MONTHS
Man Rides About City in Police Automobile, Pointing Out Places He Declares He Entered.
TELLS OF APPEARING IN PRIZE RING HERE
Louis Glassman Rang Doorbells Between 7 and 10, He Relates and Broke in if No One Answered.
Boasting almost incessantly of his exploits as a petty thief, Louis Glassman, 23-year-old burglar, is riding about the city today in a police automobile trying to point out a few more homes to add to the list of 107 houses which he says he has robbed in the last seven months.
He began his operations within a few days after he got out of the workhouse last July 22, he told detectives after he had begun to talk Sunday evening. With the first burst of confession he offered to point out the scene of as many of his robberies as he could remember, and special officers of the Page Boulevard District spent Monday and yesterday working up the present list.
To himself Glassman has received with obvious gratification the title of "home wolf" and "master burglar" bestowed upon him by policemen merely to awaken his vanity and make him talk, but his robberies, as his confessions have shown, were of the petty sort, executed in a manner adopted by cheap housebreakers from time immemorial.
"I began carrying a weapon," he bragged. "I just went up to a house and knocked on the door. If someone answered I pretended I had found the wrong family. But if no one came I would go in by using a skeleton key."
"I took very little except men's clothes and jewelry, but I took all the cash I could get my hands on. I am a plumber by trade and I do some amateur boxing. I could make good money working at my trade, but I like the excitement of being a thief."
Arrested on Suspicion.
Glassman told Police Capt. O'Brien that most of his burglaries were committed between the hours of 7 and 10 p. m. Realizing his most profitable time was in the evening, he unhesitatingly approached lighted homes confident that he could explain he had found the wrong house if anyone appeared at the door.
He was arrested as a suspect Saturday night at Holladay and Easton avenues by special officers to whom he "didn't look good." Two loaded pistols were found in his pockets. He said he had taken them in a burglary a few days previously and had intended to dispose of them.
He made a claim to having been a champion lightweight boxer of the navy in 1920 and 1922 and declared he had fought in prize rings here but fight referees say they do not know him. He lived most recently at 4418A Manchester street, where he was arrested. He was married six months ago but left his wife, who is now employed as a governess.
Glassman told reporters that he could not estimate the value of the loot he had taken but volunteered the observation that "it was plenty." His operations took him all over the city, he said, but most of his robberies were in the southwest part of town. The workhouse sentence, which he completed last summer, was for a motion picture show burglary in which he took two electric fans.
Favors Contracts on U. S. Work.
The Board of Directors of the Chamber of Commerce has endorsed the passage of a bill now pending in Congress, providing that governmental construction work shall be done under the contract method rather than by day labor. Notice of the chamber's action has been sent in letters to Senators Reed and Williams, Congressmen Hawes, Newton and Dyer.

WOMAN PRESENT WHEN EX-CONVICT WAS SHOT DOWN
Widow of James Moody Admits She Was in Marcus Avenue House.
UNABLE TO TELL WHO KILLED HIM
Tells Story to Police—Detectives Think Safeblower Slain by Man He Was Trying to Kill.
James Moody, safeblower and ex-convict, was shot in a revolver fight with a man whom he was talking in the house at 2822 Marcus avenue, where he met his death Sunday morning, detectives investigating the case have concluded.
This explanation of the killing is based upon the arrest yesterday of a woman who calls herself Mrs. Bessie McCann Moody, and says she was the common-law wife of the slain man and the mother of his 6-month-old daughter, Ruth.
She was taken into custody after Police Capt. Dineen had been told she had been in the house on Marcus avenue when Moody was killed. She admitted she was there, but insisted she did not know who shot Moody.
"I went to the house Saturday night to visit the family of Charles Eickel, who live there," Mrs. Moody said. "That evening Jimmie came there for a short time. He was accompanied by Frank Lamke, Dot Leighton and Ruby Moody, his present wife, who is a burlesque actress. They left after a short time but I spent the night there."
Moody Had Revolver in Hand.
Mrs. Moody said she was in the bedroom of the Eickel home next morning when Moody was shot. He had a revolver in his hand, she said.
"He said, 'Bessie, don't stand in front of me, I don't want to hurt you,'" she declared. "I ran from the room as he advanced toward the folding doors leading to the front room. They were just beginning to open as I ran out. When I got in the hall, I heard shots. Jimmie staggered out and fell in the yard."
She declared she had no idea who was in the front room at the time. From the fact Moody carried his revolver in his hand and the additional fact that one cartridge in the weapon had been discharged, detectives believe he was looking for the man in the front room, and was bested in a revolver fight with him.
Mrs. Moody said that at the time of the shooting Jimmie, who was arrested as he took Moody's body to hospital, was in the rear of the house and Eickel was in the back yard.

Negro, Former Courthouse Janitor, Gets $3600 Job
George B. Jones, Self-Educated Attorney, Appointed Assistant to Circuit Attorney Sidener.
A self-educated Negro, who was a janitor at the Broadway Courthouse some 25 years ago, tomorrow will become an assistant to Circuit Attorney Sidener at a salary of $3600 a year, the highest public position which a Negro attorney has attained in St. Louis.
He is George B. Jones, claimed as a protégé by many St. Louis attorneys who helped him in his long struggle to gain an education and admission to the bar. He studied at night and learned law by means of a correspondence course, because the evening schools would not admit him as a student.
He has been a Deputy Circuit Attorney under Sidener since 1923 and has gained the friendship and regard of the many attorneys and others who have had reason to consult him in his capacity as deputy in charge of research work. An affable personality and a willingness to oblige have been factors in his success.
Circuit Attorney Sidener, in announcing Jones' promotion, stated it was entirely an "appointment of merit." Jones will replace Rudolph Schneider, who has resigned to enter the race for Judge of Court of Criminal Correction No. 1.
Accident Showed Stubious Bent.
Jones was born in St. Louis and was left an orphan at the age of 5 years when his mother died of a kindly neighbor, a widow, who sent him to public school as long as she could afford to buy clothes for him. At 13 he went to work, first as a newsboy and then as a bootblack. Finally at 17 he began his education for the late Roger P. Annan, commission merchant and former president of the Merchants' Exchange, who became the ambitious young Negro's first benefactor.
It was an accident that caused him to realize his employment situation. Annan, realizing his employee's ability, one night and rushed to Jones' quarters, where his table was in flames. The Negro youth had fallen asleep over a book with a candle burning and the candle had overturned.
Instead of dismissing Jones, Annan arranged that two hours of daylight be set aside each day and Jones pursued his studies under the tutelage of Mrs. Annan.
Jones remained with the Annans for several years as houseman, coachman and butler. Then, as a young man, he went to the courthouse as janitor, where prominent lawyers and judges soon noted his earnestness, courtesy and obvious ambition to get on in the world. It was a Circuit Judge who arranged for his appointment as Deputy Clerk in the old Dayton Street Police Station, during the Kreismann administration.
It was at Dayton Street Court that Jones realized he might become a lawyer. He visited the evening schools and was about to

READING MACHINE FOR MICROSCOPIC TYPE
Admiral Fiske Thinks His Device Will Eliminate Printing Presses.
By the Associated Press.
NEW YORK, March 30.—A "reading machine" that folds into the size of a fountain pen and is designed to do away with bulky books has been invented by Rear Admiral Bradley A. Fiske, retired, the Herald Tribune says.
Admiral Fiske has completed a working model of the invention, which Admiral Fiske calls the "Riske Reading Machine." It consists of an apparatus not unlike a loggnet, on which are mounted a magnifying lens for one eye, a shield for the other, and a rack to hold reading matter.
The reading matter for use with the machine is produced directly from typewritten manuscript by photography and is so microscopic as to be undecipherable with the naked eye.
The Admiral has had the first volume of Mark Twain's "Innocents Abroad," a book of 92,000 words, prepared as an example, and it appears as a 13-page pamphlet, 3 1/2 x 5 1/2 inches in size. The expense of production, he says, would be but a small fraction of the cost of publishing a book.
The advantages of reading with one eye, according to Admiral Fiske, center about the absence of any necessity for focusing. The eyes are protected from all glare, and if the instrument is properly adjusted, it will remain in focus eliminating all strain. The reduced characters are so magnified that they appear larger than ordinary type.
The first important field in which Admiral Fiske expects to see the machine used to advantage is that of bulky reference books. Encyclopedias, dictionaries, law books and records, generally are large and difficult to handle or store.
Admiral Fiske, who retired from the navy in 1916, has a number of successful inventions to his credit, among them the torpedo plane, the naval telescope sight and mount, an electric gun range finder, a system for detecting submarines and an electro-magnetic system for exploding torpedoes under ships.

MARGARET WOODROW WILSON SAVES 2 BOYS FROM THE LAW Kindness Best Lesson, War President's Daughter Tells Magistrate After Robbery.

NEW YORK, March 29.—Miss Margaret Woodrow Wilson, daughter of the war President, saved two youths from the law yesterday after they had admitted they robbed her apartment last Wednesday.

Joseph Moriglia, 17 years old, and Anthony Nunziata, 16, were to be arraigned in Tombs Court. Miss Wilson was in the courtroom as complainant and saw the mothers of the boys weeping.

When the case was called Magistrate Flood asked Miss Wilson to sign a burglary complaint against the youths.

"No, I think not," she said.

The Magistrate pressed for a reason.

"I don't want to prosecute," Miss Wilson replied. "I have my property back and a conviction against them would stand for a lifetime."

But the Magistrate was not satisfied.

Then records were produced to show Moriglia last year had received a suspended sentence and that the other boy had stolen property in his possession, the proceeds of a previous robbery.

"If they are not prosecuted now," said Magistrate Flood, "they will not learn their lesson."

The best lesson for them," Miss Wilson replied, "is the lesson of kindness."

The boys were discharged. Miss Wilson shook hands with them.

U. S. ARMY REGULATIONS ADOPTED BY POLICE HERE

Strict Adherence to Military Courtesy to Be Required Hereafter in the Department.

New regulations approved by the Board of Police Commissioners and Chief Clerk, requiring strict adherence to military courtesy in the Police Department, are published in the current Police Journal, to become effective at once. They require all patrolmen and other officers to master the fundamentals of United States Army infantry drill regulations and apply them to all occasions on and off duty.

This requires the officers to stand at attention with uncovered heads in the presence of superiors indoors and to salute them outdoors. A subordinate will stand at attention on all occasions and not address a superior until given the command "Rest" and permission to speak.

The regulations also provide for march and parade alignments based on the standard infantry drill regulations. Respect will not be confined to obedience to duty, say the new regulations, but will be extended to all occasions.

NEW CALIFORNIA GOLD RUSH TO THE HILLS EAST OF MOJAVE

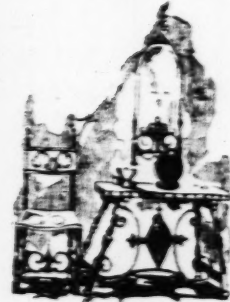

Pay Dirt Within Six Feet of Surface Said to Assay $300 to $5000 a Ton.

By the Associated Press.

LOS ANGELES, Cal., March 29.—Desert roads leading toward the Kramer Hills, east of Mojave, where California's latest gold strike was made two weeks ago, are crowded with prospectors urging their automobiles through the sand wastes. Reports are that gold in paying quantities is being found within six feet of the surface and that assays of ore are running from $300 to $5000 a ton.

A city of tents has sprung up within an area of five miles square and hundreds of claims are being staked. Several thousand persons visited the scene Sunday, many of them merely for curiosity but a large percentage prepared to pitch their tents in the foothills.

SPEEDBOAT SINKS AFTER CRASH IN RACE

Baby Car VII Hits Another Craft Rounding Buoy—Woman Aids in Rescue.

By the Associated Press
HAVANA, March 29.—Baby Car VII, Garfield Wood's latest speed boat, today lies 100 fathoms under the surface of the Gulf of Mexico, about a quarter of a mile from the Malecon. Havana's seaside driveway.

The boat sank late yesterday afternoon after a collision with Miss Palm Beach as they rounded a buoy on the course of the 12-mile open race for motor boats. Thousands of persons along the sea wall were watching the boats as they sped through a sea disturbed by a heavy swell.

Mrs. Okerehobee, with Mrs. W. J. Connors of Buffalo at the wheel, had safely rounded the buoy a short distance ahead of Miss Palm Beach, going at nearly 40 miles an hour, and leaving a wide wake behind her. Miss Palm Beach struck the wake, leaped clear of the water and came down off her course. Baby Car, closely following, also leaped over the swell and struck the left side of Miss Palm Beach, crushing the deck and ripping a hole in her own bow.

George Wood, driving Baby Car, and Joe Kenny, his mechanic, were thrown out of the boat. Mrs. Connors had heard the crash. She immediately swung her boat about sharply, and with the motors roaring and the hull of Miss Okerehobee's half hidden by the spray, she raced back toward the buoy where Wood and Kenny could be seen bobbing up and down with the swell.

Kenny's life preserver had floated away from him as he started to swim toward Baby Car, which was running in a circle with its motors roaring. Mrs. Connors went alongside Wood. As she slowed down, both the boat and the men in the water were nearly obscured in a cloud of spray. Wood was held about.

Meanwhile, Kenny got in the course of Baby Car and caught a trailing rope and pulled himself on board. He attempted to steer the damaged craft toward shore, but the water was pouring into the hull too fast. Kenny shut off the motor and jumped overboard just as Baby Car sank beneath the waves. The mechanic then swam to the sinking yacht.

Meanwhile, the crew of Miss Palm Beach, driven by Orrin Johnson, was making efforts to keep her afloat. Finally she was taken in tow and beached in Havana Harbor.

Neither Wood nor Kenny was injured.

YOUNGEST SISTER OF LATE POPE PIUS X DIES AT 76

Anna Sarto, After Lifetime of self-Denying Devotion to Religion, Succumbs Almost in Poverty.

By the Associated Press
ROME, March 29.—A lifetime of self-denying devotion to religion has ended with the death of Anna Sarto, youngest sister of the late Pope Pius X, after two months' illness and a difficult operation. Anna, 76, was a spinster. She died almost in poverty in the tiny apartment facing St. Peter's Square in which she had lived for many years with Maria Sarto, now the only surviving sister of Pius X.

Cardinal Merry Del Val, who was papal secretary of state under Pius X, was the first of a number of distinguished prelates to pay their respects.

From the days when Pius X was a simple chaplain at Tombeo, Anna kept house for him, following him through the various steps of his career until he became Pope, when she was torn between joy over his supreme honor and suffering at her separation from him. During her brother's pontificate and after his death she continued to live in extreme retirement, devoting herself to making clothes for poor children and orphanages. Condolences were expressed by the surviving sister today by both the Pope and the Italian Government.

PIGGLY-WIGGLY FOUNDER OBJECTS TO ST. LOUIS TRIAL

Counsel Argues in Memphis Court That Warrant Is Not Specific on That Point.

By the Associated Press
MEMPHIS, Tenn., March 29.—Argument has been heard before United States Commissioner Walker on a motion filed by attorneys for Clarence Saunders, customer of the right of the Government to require Saunders to appear in St. Louis for trial on an indictment returned by a Federal grand jury in that city on a charge of using the mails to defraud.

Counsel for Saunders contended that the warrant is not specific or sufficient to require his return to St. Louis.

Murder Charge Against Slayer.
James Angelopoulos, 25 years old, 400 North Third street, East St. Louis, was ordered held by a Federal grand jury in East St. Louis for the murder of Curtis Critchfield, a railroad brakeman, of Belleville, last Friday. Angelopoulos did not testify at the inquest. In a statement after Critchfield's death, Angelopoulos said that he and his wife had separated a week before, and that he had gone to her rooming house, to effect a reconciliation, had found Critchfield in the room, and had shot him.

25 PCT. CUT IN FARM VALUES IN 5 YEARS
Shrinkage From $66,316,002-602 to $49,546,523,759 Reported After Census.

By the Associated Press.
WASHINGTON, March 29.—A shrinkage in the value of American farms and farm buildings from $66,316,002,602 in 1920 to $49,546,523,759 in 1925 was estimated in the Department of Commerce today in a preliminary report on the latest agricultural census. The decrease amounted to a little more than 25 per cent. Farm acreage in the same period declined from 955,882,715 to 924,889,284 acres, and the department's division of land economics calculated the decline in the average acre value of land and buildings at 25 per cent. The value of farm buildings, it explained, increased 4 per cent.
The 1925 figures, compared with those for 1920, indicated an increase of 25 per cent in the average farm value, but considering the drop in the purchasing power of the dollar during that interval, the economists concluded, there was actually a net decline of 10 to 15 per cent during that period.
The decline during the last five years was not general, the department's experts found, the changing values having been greatest in the range country, the wheat and corn belts, and the Eastern cotton states, while a slight increase was recorded in New England and the Middle Atlantic States. In the Mountain states, the decline amounted to 41 per cent, in Iowa 34 per cent, and in Georgia 49 per cent. The increase in New England was 6 per cent and in the Middle Atlantic States 1 per cent. Pacific Coast values remained constant.
Collapse of the war land boom, with a fall of corn and hog prices, accounted largely for the decline in Iowa, the experts reported, while the decrease in Georgia was due chiefly to the boll-weevil and the exodus of Negro workers. In the range country and Mountain states, they said, drought and the collapse of wheat prices were the leading causes.
The increase in farm values in the Northwestern States was attributed to a great extent to the development of the dairy industry, the favorable position respecting markets, and an increased demand for farm land for recreational purposes.

BOY WINNING FIGHT TO EDUCATE SELF

Serbian Lad Saves $600 in Two Years and Attends High School at Night

Among the eighth grade graduates of the Pestom School in January, 1923, was Steve Valchich, 15 years old, who had come to the United States from Serbia three years before, knowing no English. His record of learning the language and completing eight grades of grammar school in three years was commented upon at the time as notable.

But Steve WAS bitter, from the fact that a distant relative with whom he lived had told him that there was to be no more schooling. Steve must go to work. Steve wanted not only High School, but university education and a profession. So he struck out for himself.

In the three years that have elapsed, Steve has supported himself by work during the day, has saved $600 and by attendance at high school night classes has acquired two years of high school credits. Now he is seeking to learn telegraphy, looking forward to the day when he will enter university. He plans to attend school during the day and earn his way by employment as a telegraph operator at night.

DREDGING OF 9-FOOT CHANNEL FOR ILLINOIS RIVER IS URGED

Army Engineers' Report Denies Great Lakes Water Diversion Is a Governing Factor.

WASHINGTON, March 30.—Water diversion from the Great Lakes is not the governing factor in a decision upon Illinois River navigation projects, Major-General Harry Taylor, chief of army engineers, declares in a report to the House Rivers and Harbors Committee.

Expenditure of $1,350,000, with $126,000 annually for maintenance, for a nine-foot channel in the Illinois River was recommended. This estimate, based upon "existing conditions" of approximately 8250 cubic second feet diversion of water from Lake Michigan, must be increased, the report said, if the diversion is lessened. The report finds support for neither side of the battle over use of Great Lakes waters.

The report recommends removal of two State dams and retention, with improvements, of two Federal locks. The present diversion as allowed by a War Department permit of March 3, 1925, is not recommended in connection with any permanent project. The report recommended that final determination on this point be deferred until the diverse factors are brought into a comprehensive program.

Conferees Agree on Army Budget.

WASHINGTON, March 30.—House and Senate conferees have agreed on the annual War Department appropriation bill, rejecting Senate amendments to appropriate $450,000 for the annual rifle tournament at Camp Perry, O., and to increase by $225,000 the funds for pay of the noncommissioned officers of the regular army. As approved, in conference, the bill carries $1,750,000 more than as passed by the House, or a total of $340,000,000.

TIRED, TENDER FEET—

JUST take your shoes off and then put those weary, shoe-crinkled, aching, burning feet of yours in a "TIZ" bath.

When your feet feel like lumps of lead—all tired out—just try "TIZ." It's grand—it's glorious. Your feet will dance with joy; also you will find all pain gone from corns, callouses and bunions. There's nothing like "TIZ."

It's the only remedy that draws out all the poisons and acids which puff up your feet and cause foot torture.

A few cents buys a box of "TIZ" at any drug or department store—don't wait. Ah! how glad your feet get; how comfortable your shoes feel.

Combining Won't Rid Hair of Dandruff

The only sure way to get rid of dandruff is to dissolve it, then you destroy it entirely. To do this, get about four ounces of ordinary liquid arvon; apply it at night when retiring; use enough to moisten the scalp and rub it in gently with the finger tips.

Do this tonight, and by morning, most if not all of your dandruff will be gone and two or three more applications will completely dissolve and entirely destroy every single sign and trace of it, no matter how much dandruff you may have.

You will find, too, that all itching and itching of the scalp will stop at once and your hair will be fluffier, lustrous, glossy, silky and soft, and look and feel a hundred times better.

You can get liquid arvon at any drug store, and it never fails to do the work.

The ELIZABETH ARDEN Treatment for coarse pores

BRISK PATTING—with Arden's Skin Tonic or Special Astringent—forms a part of every Treatment to correct coarse pores given in the Elizabeth Arden Salon. The method restores the tone and activity of the pores, so that they function completely. It brings up swift circulation through the tissues, clearing the skin of sallowness and torpidity. Then the application of Venetian Pore Cream (to correct open pores and coarseness) finds the skin quickly receptive. This method will refine the coarsest skin.

You can accomplish wonderful results at home by the daily use of these same Preparations.

ELIZABETH ARDEN'S Venetian Tonic Preparations and Babani Perfumes are on sale at

HUNT FOR EARLY MAN
IN CZECHO-SLOVAKIA
Many Sites to Be Searched for Evidence of Life 20,000
Years Ago

WASHINGTON, March 29.—Extensive excavations in Czechoslovakia are expected to yield rich evidence of the life of man in the stone age. The Smithsonian Institution, in a forthcoming issue of the Journal of Physical Anthropology, states that this section contains three major stations of Auriacian man who lived in the northwestern part of the Bohemian massif of 20,000 years ago, more or less.
It is hoped that the work at Vestec, one of the most important sites for remains of this period
so far discovered, will reveal burial grounds of these long extinct races. A veritable cemetery of mammoth bones has already been unearthed at this point.
Excavations in central Moravia, which has in the past yielded vast collections, will be continued.
The discovery of a black cavern, however,
in 1925 brought to light the fact that the stone age was much more extensive than was formerly believed and anthropologists are eagerly looking forward to what may be brought to light.
The excavations in the course of engineering works are responsible for the discovery of a third site of great promise near the manufacturing city of Vitkovice, Northwestern Moravia.
The excavations to be undertaken at this year at all these places are being financed by the Czechoslovakian Government and will be carried out under the supervision of the Czechoslovak Archaeological Institute and the Zenske Mu-zeum at Bern. In addition to the three great Auriacian sites, there have now been located in Moravia
no fewer than 10, mostly as yet untouched sites of palaeolithic man.
Moravia (the central part of Czechoslovakia) has been Dr.
Hrdlicka's favorite region for excavation
since his return from his occupation by early man. It is for the most part a beautiful gently rolling country of rich soils and good climate;
while the limestone hills are full of ancient caves.

Close Auto Salesrooms in Mexico.
MEXICO CITY, March 29.—Almost all the foreign automobile salesrooms here are closed. The action is in protest against attempts of automobile salesmen employed on a commission basis to form a union and force recognition

Rome DeLuxe QUALITY
Bedsprings
or Beauty Parlors?
WHAT good can a facial treatment do, when restless, distorted sleep is filling the system with fatigue poisons? The way to get rid of tired lines in the face is to get rid of the cause,
by discarding sagging bedsprings. Sleep can never be restful when you lie all night with bodily organs cramped, and a twisted spine pressing on sensitive nerve centers. But you will notice a wonderful difference, the first night
you sleep on Rome Quality DeLuxe,
The Bedspring Luxurious. The dealer who handles and sells this bedspring renders humanity a real service. In justice to him as well as yourself, let no one sell you a substitute. The genuine Rome DeLuxe supports the body in perfect balance; it lets every muscle, every nerve relax—and rest! These bedsprings are so honestly built that they keep their resilience for a lifetime.
Buy them for economy as well as health. At all good dealers.

ENDS WORLD'S RECORD FAST
OF 44 DAYS, EARNS $20,000
Herr Jolly of Berlin Taken From Glass Cage to Hospital for Treatment.
By the Associated Press.
BERLIN, March 29.—Herr Jolly is the world's champion professional faster. He completed his forty-fourth fast last night with approximately $20,000 in his pocket. The fast record extends over one day that previously held by the Italian, Signor Mulatti.
Jolly was a physical wreck when taken out of his glass cage and removed to a hospital. He was unable to walk, but he could speak, and his mind seemed clear.
He was no beautiful picture with the profuse growth of beard
he acquired during his fast. Inside the cage the floor was strewn with cigarette butts and mineral water bottles from which he had drunk.
The cigarettes had affected his stomach during the last three days and Jolly had not been down to 10 a day. The faster lost 27 pounds.
He weighed his pounds when he started his task and topped the scales at around 192 pounds when he ended it. He is 25 years old.
During the exhibition the gate receipts amounted to $45,000. Of this amount $10,000 will be deducted for the municipal entertainment tax; the faster's manager will receive $15,000, leaving Jolly $20,000.
Jolly, a Hungarian woman, has started on a fast. Her brother the Berlin police will furnish upon such performances, declaring them public nuisances.
VEST POCKET PASSPORTS
New Style to Be Smaller in Size
for Economy.
By the Associated Press.
WASHINGTON, March 29.—The State Department has decided to stop issuing the old style engraved passports and within the next month or so will publish a new series of smaller, more pocket size. The new passport will be smaller in size, and the change of style are two chief factors, safety and economy.
Departmental officers expect the new form to give the department absolute protection from counterfeit products, a source of constant worry. Then too, they say, the Government will save much of the expense that went with the production of the engraved passport,
and by using less expensive paper.
As a further step in the economy of economy, the new passport will be embossed and sealed in colors by machinery rather than by hand. To insure safety from counterfeited passports, the department
plans to change the form from time to time, to publish them on a specially prepared paper and to use a distinctive type, the first being printed with Tiffling type closely resembling engraving.
DROWNS INFANT AND SELF
Note Left by Pennsylvania Woman Falls to Disclose Motive.
By the Associated Press.
SHARON, Pa., March 29.—Helen Gersey, 19 years old, jumped from a bridge into the Shenango River, carrying her 18-day-old baby to death with her. A note left at her home in Farrell, Pa., addressed to her husband said: "I still love you, but I'm going to kill myself and the baby. Good-by."
Investigators have not been able to establish the motive.

DROPS CASE AGAINST AUTO DRIVER WHO FLED

Woman Who Was Run Down on Grand Boulevard Declines to Prosecute.

Two warrants charging Owen Darling, 19 years old, of 1501 Third street, Madison, with felonious wounding and feloniously leaving the scene of an accident were dismissed yesterday in the Court of Criminal Correction for want of prosecution.

In recommending the dismissal, Assistant Circuit Attorney Fish read a letter from a law firm representing the complainant, Mrs. Rosa Thoma, 61 years old, a widow, of 3422 Tennessee avenue, in which it was stated she did not wish to proceed with the prosecution, as she believed Darling had no criminal intent, although guilty of negligence. It is understood a settlement has been made out of court.

Arrested at Theater.
On the night of Dec. 29 last, Mrs. Thoma was run down and seriously injured by an automobile as she was crossing Grand boulevard at Potomac street. The automobile did not stop. Information given to police at the scene led them to the Woodland Theater, Graves and Morganford avenues, where they arrested Darling and a companion near Darling's Marmon roadster. A pair of spectacles, a hairpin and a pearl necklace found on the car, were identified as the property of Mrs. Thoma, having been lost when she was run down.

At city hospital physicians examined Darling and said he had been drinking, but was not intoxicated. The information which led to Darling's arrest had been furnished by Charles L. Smith, 4658 Delor street. He related that Darling had accosted him at Grand and Tennessee streets a minute before the accident and requested directions to the Woodland Theater.

Told to Be Careful.
Smith gave the directions, and cautioned Darling to be "careful," observing that he had been drinking, he said. Darling then drove into his roadster and drove south on Grand toward Potomac, a block south, Smith said. Smith did not see the accident. Several persons witnessed the accident, but did not see the driver.

Darling admitted he had driven past Grand and Potomac, but denied striking anyone. He pleaded not guilty in court. Three continuances were taken by the State when Mrs. Thoma failed to appear. She has recovered from her injuries.

TEN WOMEN RETAIN JOBS AS STREET CAR CONDUCTORS
Employed During War Time Shortage of Men, Officials Say They Give Good Service.

Ten women are now employed as conductors on St. Louis street cars, having been in service since the World War when the United Railways adopted the practice of employing women because of the shortage of men. At one time 25 women were working as conductors.

At the close of the war the company adopted a rule to employ no more women, but continued to retain those who desired to stay. The 10 now employed have given continuous, satisfactory service since war days, according to officials.

TO REOPEN BANK AT SEDALIA
Stockholders and Depositors Vote to Take Necessary Steps.

SEDALIA, Mo., March 29.—Stockholders and depositors of the Farmers and Mechanics' Bank here, have voted to reopen the institution as soon as proper steps can be taken. The bank was closed last Wednesday. Probably 1200 of the nearly 5000 depositors attended a meeting last night and agreed that deposits they have on the date of the bank's reopening are subject to withdrawal, 25 per cent on demand, 25 per cent 60 days from the date of reopening, a like amount in 120 days and 25 per cent after 180 days.

The plan further stipulates assignment or transfer to a board of trustees, to be chosen by a committee of ten, at least 50 per cent of the liability of the bank, and it is understood that the bank shall deliver to the trustees an account of bills receivable to be subject to the Commissioner of Finance to the amount of total assignments of deposits to the trustees. Agreement also was reached that all the capital stock of the bank shall be assigned to the trustees or its equivalent at par in cash or securities, to be held by them as security to reimburse the deposits so assigned.

Man's Body Taken From Lake.
TOLEDO, O., March 29.—On the head of an unidentified man cast ashore by wind-driven ice of Lake Erie near here Monday night point to murder, county authorities declare. Although the body was clothed well and there were patent leather shoes on the feet, the victim was coatless. This is taken to prove that the man either drove his automobile through a hole in the ice and removed his coat in an effort to save himself or he was slain and his coat removed to thwart identification. Coroner Heister said the body had been in the water since December. Eighty-five cents and a pair of cuff links were found on the body.STIX, BAER & FULLER

Says Americans Were Kidnapers
By the Associated Press.
WASHINGTON, March 30.—Mexican Ambassador Telles yesterday said he had received information indicating that the assailants of the American engineers recently robbed and kidnaped in Durango were themselves American citizens. All other reports reaching Washington have indicated that the bandits were Mexicans. Ambassador Sheffield has made inquiries at the Mexican Foreign office, but has not reported the conclusions to Washington.

SAYS DAVIS' SON TOOK $1250 TO GET PARDON

Former Kansas Banker Asserts Youth Explained He Didn't Like Looks of Penitentiary.

By the Associated Press.
TOPEKA, Kan., March 30.—Without attempting to deny that Russell Davis, son of former Gov. Jonathan M. Davis, accepted $1250 after delivering a pardon to Fred W. Pollman, convicted banker, lawyers defending the two Davises against bribery charges sought to bring out in questioning Pollman that young Davis was employed as an attorney in this case. Pollman in answer to questions said Russell Davis had insisted upon being appointed attorney in the pardon hearing because he did not "like the looks of the penitentiary." "I agreed with the young man that the penitentiary was not a pleasant place to go," the witness remarked. Pollman admitted, on the stand yesterday, that Gov. Davis never had said he wanted money for a pardon "except to tell me he was too poor to buy a bull" at the American Royal Livestock Show in Kansas City. Pollman had related on direct testimony that he had gone to Gov. Davis' farm in Bourbon County to ask the Governor's son to help obtain a pardon.

Meeting in Hotel Room.
After relating his negotiations with young Davis, Pollman testified as to his meeting with the Governor's son on a Topeka hotel room Jan. 8, 1925, when the pardon was delivered. Pollman's room in the hotel was connected with an adjoining room by a secret telephone device. "Russell Davis came up," Pollman testified, "and we agreed that he should go to his father with $1000 of my money and then come back with the pardon and get the other $250. The money which I gave him—$1000—bills—was loaned to me by the Kansas City Journal-Post. We kept a record of the numbers of the bills. Russell came back in about an hour and delivered the pardon to me. "I handed him $250 and said: 'Now, Mr. Davis, I am rather hard up and I want to keep this $250.' He said: 'Come across with all of that money.' Just then the people in the next room, who had been listening in on all the conversation between Russell and me, came into the room.

Returned With $1000.
"Young Davis was surprised. He shouted that his father knew nothing about it. He went out again and returned in about an hour and gave me the $1000 check. "Why did you set a trap for the son of the man who had befriended you?" Col. A. M. Harvey, chief of defense counsel, asked Pollman. "It had been brought out that Jonathan Davis was a character witness for Pollman at the latter's trial and had written a letter recommending a parole for Pollman, which Henry Allen, then Governor, granted. "I didn't put up a trap for the boy," he answered. "I laid a trap for Gov. Jonathan M. Davis because I felt it was my duty as an American citizen to catch him selling a pardon and thereby expose crookedness in high places. "Harvey also asked the witness 'how much did you get from the Kansas City Journal-Post?' which published a copyrighted account of Russell Davis' alleged acceptance of money for the Pollman pardon. "The Journal-Post has not paid me as much as Gov. Davis and his agents had offered me to repudiate my statements," Pollman countered.

Pressed to answer the lawyer's question the witness declared he did not "receive even a penny" from the Kansas City newspaper. STATUE TO DISCOVERER OF ETHER AS ANESTHETIC Memory of Dr. Crawford W. Long of Georgia Honored in the National Capitol.
By the Associated Press.
JEFFERSON, Ga., March 30.—Jefferson went about the customary routine of life in a Georgia country town today, while at Washington honor was being paid to its most famous citizen—Dr. Crawford W. Long.

With impressive ceremonies, a statue of Dr. Long as the discoverer of ether as an anesthetic was unveiled today in Statuary Hall of the National Capitol. It was in this Georgia village in 1842, beneath an oak before his office door, that Dr. Long performed the first operation on a patient anesthetized by inhalation. Twice after that Dr. Long conducted the experiment and with marked success.

The old oak beneath which Dr. Long performed his first operation using ether as an anesthetic, said W. H. Smith, a native citizen and merchant, in recalling the history connected with it, was cut down about 12 years ago and part of it went to firewood. Through Smith's effort, however, a part of it was saved and from it a number of gavel's used in the nation's Capitol were made, and also pen staffs used on state and memorial occasions have been carved from portions of the tree. The gavel used during the ceremonies to mark the unveiling of the statue to Dr. Long was made from the oak, as was the one used by Charles Evans Hughes, then secretary of State, when he presided over the Washington arms conference in 1921. Jefferson long ago honored Dr.

Long's memory and his discovery, erecting a marble slab in a building that occupies the place where Dr. Long's office stood.

The preachers willing to take part in the work signed cards at a union ministers' meeting.

Mexican Divorce Void in New York
By the Associated Press.
WHITE PLAINS, N. Y., March 29.—A Mexican divorce, which had been granted William Henry Dunstane Jr. of New Orleans, has been declared invalid by Supreme Court Justice Tompkins and a decree of separation was granted to Mrs. Eva W. Dunstane of Yonkers, N. Y. The Mexican decree was obtained March 1, 1923 by Dunstane who accused his wife of abandonment Sept. 26, 1924. Mrs. Dunstane was granted $500 monthly alimony.

DO-NE-HO-GA-WEH, SENECA INDIAN CHIEF, DIES AT 67

Tribal Runners Are Dispatched to All Parts of New York State, Bearing Tidings.

By the Associated Press.
BUFFALO, N. Y., March 30.—Chief Thomas Poody, head sachem of the Tonawanda band of the Seneca Indians, is dead at the reservation near Akron, 25 miles east of here, and tribal runners have been dispatched to all parts of the State bearing the tidings to the six nations. Chief Poody, whose Indian name was Do-Ne-Ho-Ga-Weh, was 67 years old, and for years had presided as "keeper of the Western door," the most important office in the Seneca Indian council.

There will be a five-day period of mourning, during which time the funeral will be held. Indians for miles around will come, while the speaker elected by the tribe will chant the ancient burial of the corpse. He will address the spirit to speed away "like an arrow from a bow," nor come back to earth again to mingle with his kindred. "Go," he will say, "to that place where your deeds on this earth have merited you a seat."

Immediately following the mourning the women of the tribe to which the sachem belonged will gather at the council house on the reservation and elect a successor for life. They will ballot with twigs, in accordance with an ancient custom. Then the Indian version of "the chief is dead—long live the chief" will be recited in the Seneca tongue. A celebration follows in which half loaves of bread are passed to all present.

Chief Poody has been sachem for 31 years, succeeding Gen. Ely S. Parker, who was secretary to Gen. Grant during the Civil War. Chief Poody was a prosperous farmer of the reservation. He leaves a widow, a daughter, three brothers and three sisters.

FAMILY OF 7 DIE IN FIRE IN THEIR NORTH WOODS CABIN
Bodies of Parents and Five Children Found After Blaze Near Williams, Minn.

By the Associated Press.
ST. PAUL, Minn., March 30.—Mr. and Mrs. Henry Newman and their five children were burned to death in their cabin near Williams, Minn., an isolated inland town in the wilderness near the Canadian border.

The bodies of Mrs. Newman and a young daughter were found on a road near their home, and investigation disclosed the bodies of Newman and four other children in the ruins of their home. Apparently Mrs. Newman and her daughter had escaped from the blazing building, but died of burns before they could summon help.

ROBINSON SEEKS DELAY IN ITALIAN
DEBT SETTLEMENT

Plan to Send Agreement
Back to Committee Seems Only Chance of Blocking Ratification.

PARTY LINES DRAWN IN SENATE DEBATE

Robinson Says U. S. Has Sacrificed Reputation for Generosity—Objects to "Capacity to Pay."

By CHARLES MICHELSON.
A Staff Correspondent of the Post-Dispatch and New York World.
WASHINGTON, March 30.—Senator Robinson, Democratic leader in the Senate, started the fight on the Italian debt settlement with the only strategy that might possibly interfere with its ratification; that is to refer it back to the Finance Committee on the ground that the Senate should have more information before taking definite action.

This plan of delay appeals strongly to the mid-west Senators who have been lined up for ratification by the administration in spite of their plea to be allowed to get through the coming election without recording themselves on the Italian debt.

The Ku Klux Klan and the main constituency of the farm group are both against the settlement and it is natural that these Senators should wish to dodge at this time, particularly as they had to resort to a secret ballot in confirming Thomas W. Woodlock as Interstate Commerce Commissioner in an effort to keep this same constituency off their backs.

The debate yesterday was fairly warm. Reed of Missouri, Smoot of Utah, Hiram Johnson of California and half a dozen others got into it; charges of playing politics were bandied across the center aisle and generally the galleries crowded for the occasion had a good time. In the diplomatic gallery an attaché made full notes to the Italian, Sir Esme Howard, British Ambassador, escorting the wife of Senator Reed of Pennsylvania, appeared in the President's gallery.

Platform Chud.
The debaters got Smoot on the griddle, he having had a part in framing the Republican national platform which declared that all the debts should be settled on the basis of the terms accorded Great Britain.

"It is an inexplicable code of ethics," said Robinson, "for a Senator to write that platform and then to express the belief that it is unbecoming for the opposition to take advantage of the blunders of his party."

The Republicans argued that the Italian settlement was not at variance with the principle of the British one, merely because it allowed a lower rate of interest. Robinson pointed out that the British were paying 85 per cent of their obligation and the Italians only 24 per cent and suggested that the explanation was "entirely consistent with the mental processes of the Senator from Utah."

Reed Sarcastic.
Bingham (Rep.) of Connecticut, tried to extricate Smoot by turning the charge of politics on the Democrats, quoting the Democratic platform declaration that the Republican party has no foreign policy. "Yes," replied Robinson, "the Republican platform was adopted first."

"They knew what the Democratic platform was going to be," said Reed (Dem.) of Missouri, sarcastically.

"You've had no foreign policy since the Harding administration," said King (Dem.) of Utah. "You are opportunists and you're drifting, drifting, and no one knows whether."

King said he understood that Charles Beecher Warren wrote the debt plank in the platform. "The people at the polls approved it," was Bingham's come back.

"All the more reason that we should pay some attention to it," he said, Borah, breaking into the debate.

Robinson contended that the standard of "capacity to pay" was untenable.

Reputation Sacrificed.
"It is not only a false and unreliable standard," continued Robinson, "but it gives credence to the claim that the people of the United States have lost sight of their finer considerations which prompted us to make the advances. We have sacrificed our reputation for generosity and liberality and have received no consideration of value in place of it."

WASHINGTON, March 30.—Senator

on the Italian debt settlement with the only strategy that might possibly interfere with its ratification;
that is to refer it back to the Finance Committee on the ground that the Senate should have more action.

This plan of delay appeals strongly to the mid-west Senators who have been lined up for ratification
by the administration in spite of their plea to be allowed to get through the coming election without recording themselves on the Italian debt.

The Ku Klux Klan and the main constituency of the farm group are both against the settlement and it is natural that these Senators should wish to delay at this time, particularly as they had to resort to a general ballot in continuing Thomas W. Woodlock as Interstate Commerce Commissioner in an effort to keep this same constituency off their backs.

The debate yesterday was fairly warm. Reed of Missouri, Smoot of Utah, Hiram Johnson of California and half a dozen others got into changes of playing politics were banded across the center aisle and generally the galleries crowded for the occasion had a good time.

In the diplomatic gallery an attache made full notes for the Italian Ambassador, escorted the wife of Senator Reed of Pennsylvania, appeared in the President's gallery.

Platform Cited.
The debaters got Smoot on the middle, he having had a part in framing the Republican national platform which declared that all debts should be settled on the basis of the terms accorded Great Britain.

"It is an inexplicable code of ethics," said Robinson, "for a Senator to write that platform and then to express the belief that it is unbecoming for the opposition to take advantage of the blunders
of his party."

The Republicans argued that the Italian settlement was not at variance with the principle of the British one, merely because it allowed a lower rate of interest. Robinson pointed out that the British were paying 55 per cent of their obligation and the Italians only 26 per cent and suggested that the explanation was "entirely consistent with the mental processes of the Senator from Utah."

Reed's Remarks.
Bingham (Rep.) of Connecticut, tried to excite Smoot by turning the charge of politics on the Democrats, quoting the Democratic platform declaration that the Republican party has no foreign policy.

"Yes," replied Robinson, "the Republican platform was adopted first."

"They knew what the Democratic platform was going to be,"
said Reed (Dem.) of Missouri, sarcastically.

"You've had no foreign policy

said King (Dem.) of Utah. "You are opportunists and you're drifting, drifting, and no one knows whither."

King said he understood that Charles Beecher Warren wrote the debate plank in the platform.

"The people at the polls approved it," was Bingham's come back.

Robinson contended that the standard of "capacity to pay" was untenable.

Reputation Sacrificed.
"It is not only a false and unreliable standard," continued Robinson, "but it gives precedence to the claim that the people of the United

MEXICO PUBLISHES RULES ON ALIEN LAND OWNERSHIP

Foreigners Required to Waive Appeals to Own Government—Land Acquired Prior to 1917 May Be Retained.

By the Associated Press.
MEXICO CITY, March 30.—The Mexican government has published the regulations governing the alien land law, as provided for by Article 27 of the Constitution.

The regulations provide that no-taries, Judges, Consuls in foreign countries and other officials who draw up or register instruments certifying land titles within the prohibited zones along the border and the coast lines to foreigners, contrary to the law, shall be dismissed.

(The prohibited zone is a strip
100 kilometers—about 60 miles—from the Mexican frontier, and 50 kilometers from either coast.)

Land title documents of individuals or corporations, in which foreigners as individuals or stockholders hold a title to Mexican lands,
must provide that such foreigners will become Mexican citizens, as far as such lands are concerned, and renounce their right to appeal to their Governments in any controversy over the land.

Renunciation of Citizenship.
Foreigners who obtain land titles within the prohibited zone must get permission from the foreign office.

Officials must notify the foreign office of all registrations of land titles of foreigners.

Land corporations must print in their stock certificates, or otherwise make it plain, that foreign stockholders renounce their foreign citizenship and the protection of their Governments as far as such land holdings as represented by the stocks are concerned.

Whenever foreign-owned lands must be disposed of because of failure to obey the law, the Government will auction them, and the proceeds, less the court costs, will go to the owners. Foreigners must register land ownership with the Government.

Within and outside the forbidden zone, Mexican corporations, the stock of which is partly or wholly owned by foreigners, may acquire land for any purpose except agricultural, if such land is limited to the exact surface needs of an industry, such as mining,
petroleum and similar operations.
The President of the republic may give each company permission to own such property.

Privilege of Foreigners.
Foreigners may own 50 per cent of the stock of corporations engaged in agricultural pursuits within the forbidden zone.

Foreigners who acquired agricultural property after the proclamation of the 1917 constitution and before the land law became effective may retain the property until death.

Colonization contracts made before the law became effective will not be affected, but later colonization contracts require permission from the President. Foreign colonists may own no more than 250 hectares (a hectare equals about 2 1/2 acres) of irrigated land or 1000 hectares of other lands within the forbidden zone, and must become Mexican citizens within six years from the date of acquiring such lands.

It any more money the Italians would begin to understand that not even an Italian dictator can be a dictator over America.

Obligation to U. S.
"Italy owes her very life to us,
Great Britain and France," Senator Reed declared. "Our obligation to Italy was washed out by the blood of American soldiers, who were put into the line and helped turn back the Germans after the Italian soldiers had turned their backs and fled."

"I do not say that Great Britain and France owe their lives to us, but they owe us a debt of gratitude that should not be forgotten for a thousand years."

The Italian debt continued before the Senate until Shipstead (Farmer Labor), of Minnesota, delivered a disquisition on the ill treatment of the farmers by the Government.
The row has started, however, and we will have daily installments of it from now on. The administration has the votes to ratify the settlement if it could get that one proposition to a ballot at once.

As the debate will culminate in a resolution to refer it back to the Finance Committee, the situation changes, and now the administration people are scurrying around in the more difficult task of beating such a resolution, and they do not yet know if it can be done.

Reed's Suggestion.
Reed of Missouri wanted to know if this did not imply the United States would have to be defeated in a future war.

Beyond question," replied Robinson, "if the Senator from Utah is right, the recovery of these loans must be preceded by a national calamity to the United States and I am not enthusiastic in giving my support to a legislative measure based on such prophecies."

"Might it not be better," asked Reed, "in order to cover this disaster to contribute enough money now, to other countries so that some financial center can be changed without a resort to arms?"

"It would," answered Senator Robinson, "be the cheapest thing to do."

Next Robinson took Smoot to task for his statement that under no condition may France hope for anything like as favorable terms as have been accorded Italy.

"That statement," said Robinson, "did not tend to stabilize the franc, and it is still going down. The Senator accomplished no useful purpose, but merely added to the difficulties France has encountered in stabilizing exchange."

"Since no settlement with France is at issue before the Senate, how can the Senator from Utah assure the public what arrangement will or will not be made with France?"
Why does he go out of his way to make a declaration, the only effect of which is further to depress French currency?"

"We Have the Dollars."
Reed, of Missouri, asserted the United States could not force payment of the debts by suggesting that there were many ways which this could be done, and declared that no nation that repudiated its indebtedness could gain credit successfully, as ultimately every war was fought with dollars and we have the dollars.

He commented that France could make a start at paying by ceding us her West Indian Islands, even one of which is a French possession at the heart of America.

Reed concluded by offering a resolution for the investigation of the question of the ability of the debtor nations to pay their obligations in full, the inquiry also to take in the loans by American bankers and the amount of money lent for propaganda in this country. Smoot stopped immediate consideration of the resolution.

Senator Reed declared that if the United States would cut off commerce with Italy and refuse to lend

30-DAY DELAY IN MAGDALENA BAY LAND CONCESSION

Japanese Allow Period of Grace Before Closing With Colonel Who Got Grant From Mexico.

HE IS WILLING TO SIGN WITH AMERICANS

Concession Covers Oil Rights and Privilege of Exploiting Vegetable and Timber Products.

By the Associated Press.
SAN DIEGO, Cal., March 29.—
Col. A. R. Vasquez, who has obtained a concession from the Mexican Government on 2,000,000 acres of land around and north of Magdalena Bay, Lower California, has not yet entered into an agreement with a Japanese syndicate for the exploitation of the concession.

This announcement was made here by Robert Farfan, representative of Vasquez. He said that negotiations with the Japanese syndicate, which is represented in the United States by Dr. K. O.
Osawa of San Pedro, have been completed, but that final agreements have not been signed.

Farfan said that no action would be taken to close the deal until the end of a 30-day period of grace allowed by the Japanese, who have agreed to operate the concession with a backing of $2,000,000, which may be increased to $5,000,- 000.

40 Per Cent Royalty.
This offer, Farfan said, is better than any other that has been made, especially as regards royalties, the Japanese agreeing to paying 40 per cent against a bid of 6 per cent by American promoters.

Despite the Japanese offer, Vasquez was represented as being eager to turn his concession over to American interests. By he will exercise his right to close negotiations with the Japanese if no other bids for the concession are made, Farfan said.

The concession, Farfan said, is in two parts. The first grant, signed over to Vasquez by Luis N.
Morones, secretary of the Mexican Department of Industry, Commerce and Labor, gives title to the oil rights on all the land between the twenty-third and twenty-eighth degrees of latitude, and takes in all of the roughly Cape San Lazaro,
the northern tip of Magdalena Bay, and the twenty-sixth degree, twenty-eighth minute of latitude near Santo Domingo, and from the shore line to approximately 40 miles inland.

Vegetable Product Concession.
The second grant, which refers to the exploitation of vegetable and timber products, runs between the twenty-third and twenty-eighth degrees of latitude, and takes in all of the territory between the Pacific Ocean and the Gulf of California, on which the orchilla plant—used for an important vegetable dye—is found.

In second concession applies only to vegetable products and chiefly to the orchilla plant and the guayule, or rubber plant. It is a 10-year concession, which may be abrogated by the Government at the end of any one-year period if the terms are not carried out.

Both grants specify that article 123 of the Mexican Constitution, stipulating that 50 per cent of the labor employed on the concessions must be Mexican, shall be rigidly adhered to. The other 50 per cent of the labor may be of any nationality.

The grants to Col. Vasquez were dated Dec. 31, 1925.

Mexican Envoy Denies Grant Has Been Made.
By the Associated Press.
WASHINGTON, March 30.—
Machinery of the Federal Government has been set in motion to ascertain the facts regarding reports that a grant of 2,000,000 acres of land on Magdalena Bay, has been made to a Mexican-Japanese syndicate.

Don Manuel C. Tellez, the Mexican Ambassador here, declared that any report that his Government had made a land concession to a Japanese syndicate was "perfectly absurd." He added that reports of similar grants in the past had been without foundation. Japanese embassy officials later said they had no information on the subject.

The first move for an investigation was made in the Senate yesterday at the request of Senator Johnson (Rep.) of California. He asked for an early meeting of the Foreign Relations Committee and it was promised by Chairman Borah, who later sent telegrams to several points in California in an effort to obtain leads on which the committee might work.

Previously Senator Borah had sought information from the State Department, but was informed that the State Department had no information on the subject.

Commander Byrd Working With His Plane

Commander Richard E. Byrd is shown tinkering with the propeller of his triple-engine Fokker plane, which he will use on his expedition to the North Pole. This picture was taken just before he flew from Hasbrouck Heights, N. J., to Mineola, N. Y., where a radio will be installed in the plane.

BYRD, POLAR FLYER, TO SAIL NORTH MONDAY

Will Leave Brooklyn for Jumping-Off Place, King's Bay, Spitzbergen.

By the Associated Press.
NEW YORK, March 30.—Lieutenant-Commander, Richard E.
Byrd came here today with the personally offered best wishes of President Coolidge for the success of his airplane flight to the North Pole. Byrd will leave the Brooklyn navy yard Monday on the Chantler on his first lap northward.

Carrying 44 persons and two airplanes, the Chantler will pick up an "ice skipper" at Tromsø, Norway, the only port of call on her way to King's Bay, Spitzbergen,
the jumping-off place.

The steamer will be escorted out of New York harbor by a yacht aboard which will be John D.
Rockefeller Jr., Edsel Ford and G.
Truett Davidson, Vincent Astor,
sponsors, and Rear Admiral Silas Plunkett, commander of the Brooklyn navy yard.

The Chantler is expected to reach Tromsø on April 25 and King's Bay about May 1. About two weeks will be required to assemble the Fokker exploration plane and test it before making the first jump of 400 miles to the northern tip of Peary Land. After an advance base has been established there,
the planes will hop off directly for the pole, another 400 miles away.
Byrd expects to return to the United States in June.

ARCTIC PLANE AGAIN IN SHAPE

Wilkins' Expedition to Try Point Barrow Trip Tomorrow.

By the Associated Press.
FAIRBANKS, Alaska, March 30.—
Following a successful test flight of the Alaskan, an airplane to be used by Capt. George H. Wilkins in an Arctic air expedition, it was announced that the first trip from Fairbanks to a base at Point Barrow with supplies likely will be made tomorrow.

The Alaskan was damaged while landing here March 18, and yesterday's flight was the first since the accident. With Carl B. Eielson piloting, the plane remained in the air more than two hours and made a perfect landing.

Soviet Textile Mills to Close.

By the Associated Press.
MOSCOW, March 30.—Due to a shortage of raw materials the Soviet Government plans to close nearly 100 textile factories for periods ranging from one to six weeks. The workers will receive 50 per cent of their regular wages during the idle period. Many thousands of workers are affected.

COUNTY FREEHOLDERS MAY BACK CITY ANNEXATION PLAN IN BELIEF IT WILL LOSE

Indication That Opponents Will Adopt This Method to Prevent Submission of Some Proposition to Voters of the State.

By the Associated Press.
ST. LOUIS, March 30.—Indications that the nine St.
Louis County members of the Board of Freeholders, or some of them, will join the nine city members in submitting the city proposal for amalgamation of city and county as a municipality grew stronger, following a public hearing on the plan by the board's Scope and Plan Committee at Clayton Courthouse
last night.

County members regard the proposal as so radical that it will be defeated at the polls, while city
members and other annexationists
only await a chance to lay it before the voters in the belief it will be adopted.

An editorial under the caption "Kill This Snake Now." In today's edition of the Watchman-Advocate, a county newspaper, published by Fred Esson, Republican boss of the county and a county member of the Board of Freeholders, is of particular significance in this connection.

Vote by State Feared.
It is feared submission of some plan to the voters by the board and makes clear that there is slight chance of the board's submitting any plan except that proposed by the city group. It cautions against relying on "short-sightedness of some county members to refuse to submit anything which would leave the way open for submission of some proposition to the people of the State in the shape of another Constitutional amendment, believing that would have a better chance of being put over in the State, with the help of St. Joseph and Kansas City political bosses, than to have it adopted by submission to the people of the county."

The editorial recalls that St.
Louis voters enabled Kansas City to carry a Constitutional amendment of local significance in 1924, and remarks "one good turn deserves another."

Declaring, county freeholders would not be traitors if they voted for submitting the city proposal, since they would be against its adoption by the people, the editorial declares: "If the freeholders submit this plan now we predict it would stand a good chance to be defeated, even in the city."

Remarks at Hearing.
Lastly told the Post-Dispatch he would vote to submit the city proposal in the event a majority of the county freeholders did so, but declared he had not learned the sentiment of his colleagues. A. E.

L. Gardner (county), chairman of the board's Scope and Plan Committee, would not affirm or deny that remarks he made at the public hearing were to be interpreted as meaning he was prepared to vote for the city proposal. He had said at the meeting:

"If 10 members of the board sign it you'll find me standing on the steps of this courthouse advocating that every citizen with any pride in his home shall vote against it.
There seems to be some impression abroad that if some county member signs this he would be a traitor, but is voting merely to let the people vote it down. It was suggested to me the plan was so bad that the city would vote it down 100 to 1. I think we ought to give it a chance."

Feared expressed in the county
newspaper editorial of a possible constitutional amendment for outright annexation if the freeholders' plan fails was strengthened by the assertion of Joseph Forshaw, president of the County Annexation League, at an overflow meeting last night, that such an amendment would be submitted to the State voters in case the present proposal is not put through. The Greater St. Louis Conference had advocated outright merger of city and county by constitutional amendment, before the Board of Freeholders was formed.

Prospect of Another Board.
Another question arising is: Can another Board of Freeholders be appointed under the present constitutional amendment in case this board remains deadlocked when it must adjourn next June, and does not submit any plan? Joseph C.
McAttee, an attorney and county freeholder, declares that another board may take up the question immediately, and says two other county lawyer-members, Frank A.
Thompson and Clarence L. Shotwell, agree with him, while Gardner and Lashly disagree. It is said that a new board cannot be appointed for five years should this one agree on submission of a plan

Committee Holds a Meeting.
An executive session of the Scope and Plan Committee, after the hearing, which voted to reject
the city amalgamation proposal and substitute for it a proposal by the county, was held last night.

SENATOR WATSON IN TICKLISH POSITION!

Group Favoring Publicity to Continue Pressure to Show How Senators
Lined Up on Nomination

By CHARLES G. ROSS,
Chief Washington Correspondent of the Post-Dispatch.
WASHINGTON, March 30.—
Rarely if ever in the history of the American Senate has there been a more striking example of political cowardice than is now being afforded by the squirmings and dodging of certain Senators to keep their votes on the Woodlock nomination from being made public.
The thing would be wholly humorous if it were not for the danger that is always implicit in star chamber government.

Thomas F. Woodlock, as news dispatches have already related, was confirmed as Interstate Commerce Commissioner at a secret session of the Senate, by a vote of 52 to 25.
The nomination had been pending for more than a year. Woodlock was formerly railroad editor of the Wall Street Journal and up to the time of his recess appointment by President Coolidge was a director of the Frisco Railroad. He had also been on the board of two Pere Marquette.

Basis of Opposition.
No one questioned the integrity of the appointee, but the Interstate fight was made upon his account of his supposed Wall Street leanings.

Senator Wheeler (Dem.) of Montana, who led the fight against confirmation in the Interstate Commerce Committee and again on the floor of the Senate declared that if Woodlock's theories of railroad valuation were carried to their logical conclusion, the valuation for rate-making purposes would be placed at the impossible figure of $33,000,000,000, or some $13,000,- 000,000 more than the railroads themselves had been claiming under their "replacement value" theory.

In fairness to Woodlock, it should be added that he testified before the Interstate Commerce Committee of the Senate that no railroad man would dream of asking for a valuation based on a $33,000,- 000,000 valuation.

Vote Seemed In Doubt.
The opposition to Woodlock was carried on so energetically by progressives of both parties that up to the time of the final vote in the Senate the result appeared in doubt. The Interstate Commerce Committee had reported against the nomination by a margin of one.
The opposition, it is true, had been whittled down by a statement from the White House that Pennsylvania, the South and the Southwest would be taken care of in future appointments, but nobody dreamed that Woodlock would go over with majority that he actually received. Nobody that is, except the participants in the deal that put him over.

What this deal was can be inferred from the inevitable secession of facts from the secret session, as well as from the disclosures since made on the Senate floor. It is plain that another coalition of Republican regulars and Democrats, similar to that which engineered the passage of the tax bill, brought about the confirmation. The active leader on the Republican side was Senator Jim Watson, the wily statesman from Indiana, chairman of the Interstate Commerce Committee. On the other side, Senator Robinson of Arkansas, the minority leader, was instrumental in lining up Democratic votes.

Secrecy Swung Votes.
Votes were swung to the Woodlock column on the plea that the ballot would be kept secret. Hence, when the anti-Woodlock party requested that the vote be made public, they were met with an unprecedented refusal.

As was pointed out in the Senate on Saturday, it had been the invariable custom of the Senate, in matters of controverted appointments, to withdraw the veil of secrecy, at least so far as the vote was concerned. In this case, the majority ruled that only the total on each side should be made known. Senators were thus placed in the ridiculous position of being liable to expulsion from the Senate, for having revealed the pre-cedings of a closed executive session, if they disclosed even so much as their own votes to their own constituents.

Why this burning desire for secrecy?

ALL EYES IN JAPAN ON FUTURE QUEEN

Princess Nagako a Modern Girl
Is Skillful at Tennis and Golf.

TOKIO, March 30.—In Japan it is the future rather than the present that is the most prominent figure in the national eye.

Unusual circumstances have combined to place Princess Nagako, 23-year-old consort of Prince Hirohito, in the forefront of public regard. Through the incapacity of his father, the Emperor Hirohito already is the actual reigning monarch, while the Empress regency shares the retirement forced upon the sovereign, leaving many of the duties of queenship to her daughter-in-law.

Nevertheless, it is as a mother, rather than as an Empress in the traditional conception of that position, which will fix her place in the estimation of her people.

Her motherhood in Japan is still almost the only thing that counts. She is the only woman who has been traveling in Europe for several months, is now in England, according to recent letters received by her parents. She has traveled through Holland and prior to that time spent some time in Paris, where she met Mr. and Mrs. Joseph L. Werner and Mrs. John B. Denver and her daughter, Miss Jane Parsons. Miss Parsons will return to Paris shortly for a longer stay, and Mrs. Werner is expected home in a few days. Mrs. Denver and Miss Parsons are due in St. Louis today.

Unbroken Line of Rulers.
If this son is born he probably will become the 124th Emperor of Japan, direct in descent from the Sun Goddess, Amaterasu. O-Mikami, the Japanese name, came down thousands of years ago from the Plain of High Heaven to found a race in the isles of Japan and give this race a line of rulers who have reigned in unbroken succession for 2500 years.

They are frank in the Orient about these things, and in the Occident, and it was for the high task of perpetuating the Imperial line that Nagako was chosen from among the eligible princesses of the realm. Six years before she was wedded with Prince Hirohito, she was selected to the Regent she was selected for her abundant good health, her clear normality of mind, and her dutiful and submissive character such as befits a daughter, wife and mother of Nippon.

Nagako is of the noblest blood in Japan. Her father is Prince Kuni, head of one of the collateral branches of the Imperial family, whose grandfather was an Emperor. Her mother was a Princess of the House of Shimada, for centuries rulers of the clan of Satsuma. Until she was chosen as the future Empress, however, Nagako's upbringing was unpretentious. Her father was not wealthy and his family lived simply. With other girls of noble birth she learned the arts of noble grace that stamp the character of the gentle women of Japan, and also many of the new accomplishments that have come with the Westernization of the country.

A Modern Girl.
Nagako is a very modern girl for Japan. She plays tennis and golf, the former skillfully. She knows the music of the Occident almost as well as the melodies of her native land. When Kresler played in Tokyo she sat often in the Imperial box of the great theater, among the most enthusiastic of the audience. She has developed her physique by carefully planned Swedish exercises. She can use a typewriter in the composition of English and is a capable amateur photographer.

The Princess is taller than the average women of her race, and therefore appears to advantage in the Occidental gowns which have been adopted as the official court dress. This is rare among Japanese women, who usually make pitiful pictures in clothes that were not designed for their small, stooped figures. Her face is of the long oval type, considered most beautiful by her people.

MEETINGS AND PUBLIC ADDRESSES
Edward H. Sothern, Shakespearean actor, will address the students of Washington University at the Graham Memorial Chapel at 11:30 o'clock tomorrow morning upon "The Development of the Theater in the Last 50 Years and Its Present State."

The American Society of Church History will hold its second annual Western literary meeting at the Eden Theological Seminary, Webster Groves, next Friday and Saturday. Among the papers to be presented are "Log College Theology," by A. A. Hays of McCormick Seminary, Chicago; "Russian Progressive Religious Thought," by Matthew Spinka, Central Theological Seminary, Dayton, O.; and "The Rise and Growth of Religious Bodies in Missouri Territory," by Lucy Simmons, State Teachers' College, Kirksville, Mo.

Mohammedan Art on Exhibit.
An exhibition of fourteenth to sixteenth century Mohammedan art, made up of metalwork and textiles from Persia, Arabia and Turkey, is now on display at the City Art Museum. The collection was assembled by Arthur Upham Pope, art adviser to the Persian government, and is said to include the finest examples of such objects now obtainable in the world. The exhibition will remain until May.

SOCIAL ACTIVITIES

MISS MARIE CLARKSON, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. P. Palmer Clarkson of 2 Windermere place will depart Friday for New York to be a bridesmaid at the wedding of Miss Virginia Fitzpatrick, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. F. F. Fitzpatrick of New York, formerly of St. Louis, and W. Kenneth Watkins, which will take place at 4 o'clock the afternoon of April 14 at the Ambassador Hotel. A reception will follow.

Mrs. Clarkson will join her daughter in New York for the ceremony. Later Miss Clarkson will visit several former schoolmates, including a classmate at City Court, who now resides in Providence, R. I.

Mr. and Mrs. Clarkson and their family will spend the summer in Arcadia, Mo., with Mrs. Clarkson's mother, Mrs. Turner, at her country home.

The Clarkson family, with Mr. and Mrs. F. W. A. Vesper and H. L. Cornet and his daughter, Miss Ruth, have just returned from a cruise with the Houston (Tex.) Chamber of Commerce.

Miss Julia Lawlin, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Louis D. Lawlin of 2123 Washington boulevard, has been traveling in Europe for several months, is now in England, according to recent letters received by her parents. She has traveled through Holland and prior to that time spent some time in Paris, where she met Mr. and Mrs. Joseph L. Werner and Mrs. John B. Denver and her daughter, Miss Jane Parsons. Miss Parsons will return to Paris shortly for a longer stay, and Mrs. Werner is expected home in a few days. Mrs. Denver and Miss Parsons are due in St. Louis today.

Chase will spend the summer in Rye Beach, N. H. Her daughter, Mrs. Richard Scroggs Kennard, and the latter's two children will be with her for part of the season.

Mr. and Mrs. Taylor Carter of 21 Vandeventer boulevard, next East in June for Mr. Carter's class reunion at the Virginia Military Institute. They will take a house in Virginia and Mrs. Carter and the children will remain for the summer.

Mrs. George Hayward Niedringhaus of 5414 Delmar boulevard, who was returned from a brief stay in Boston.

Mrs. Harold M. Kaufman of 31 Portland place has returned from the East, where she went to accompany her daughter, Miss Janet, a student at Smith College, home for the Easter holidays.

Mrs. William Ewing of 1111 Park avenue, New York City, and two of her children are spending the late winter in Bermuda. Mrs. Ewing was before her marriage the Misses of Shingoda, for centuries rulers of the clan of Satsuma. Until she was chosen as the future Empress, however, Nagako's upbringing was unpretentious. Her father was not wealthy and his family lived simply. With other girls of noble birth she learned the arts of noble grace that stamp the character of the gentle women of Japan, and also many of the new accomplishments that have come with the Westernization of the country.

A group of St. Louisans registered at the French Lick, Ind., include Mrs. Clay E. Jordan of the St. Regis apartments and Miss Etta E. Jordan and Mr. and Mrs. Wynne Martin of 11 Wydown terrace and their family.

HOME ON VACATION

MISS HENRIETTA HADLEY, who is a student at Smith College, Northampton, Mass., is spending the spring vacation with her parents, Chancellor and Mrs. Herbert S. Hadley of 6219 Elmwood avenue. Mrs. Hadley gave a luncheon Saturday for her daughter.

J. Costigan of Lindell boulevard; Miss Dorothy Mudd, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. E. J. Mudd of Bartmire avenue, and Miss Eugenia O'Halloran, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. A. O'Halloran of Enright avenue. About 200 guests are expected.

Miss Jean E. Plancy of New York, secretary to the Membership Committee of the American Social Hygiene Association, was a weekend guest of Mrs. Charles E. Miller of 5627 Enright avenue.

Miss Dorothy Dick, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. C. F. Dick of 5540 Warner boulevard, a student at Wellesley College, is spending the Easter vacation as the guest of Miss Eleanor Sharp of Buffalo, N. Y.

Mrs. P. E. Purfield of 5242 Theodosia avenue will entertain the members of the Mothers' Club of the Samuel Cupples School at a silver tea tomorrow from 1 to 3 p. m.

The members of Alpha Chapter, Sigma Kappa Theta Sorority, gave a bridge luncheon at the Buckingham Hotel Sunday afternoon.

Mr. and Mrs. Randolph Fairfax Funsten of 19 Wydown Terrace are being congratulated on the arrival of a son, Randolph Fairfax Jr., on March 13. Mrs. Funsten was Miss Gladys Bonnich of Kansas City.

Mrs. Raymond F. Hoopes of Washington, D. C., is the guest of Mrs. Frank E. Prange of 4260 Holly avenue. Mrs. Hoopes is a sister of Mr. Robert C. Kerner of 1137 Bayard avenue.

Mr. and Mrs. George S. Mephram of 4457 Westminster place and their niece, Miss Elizabeth Thomas, are in Constantinople for Easter. They will visit Athens and Carthage and later travel through the Riviera, where they will visit Mr. and Mrs. Hector Prudhomme, formerly of Lindell boulevard, at their new home, recently purchased at Nice, France.

Mr. and Mrs. William K. Bixby of 26 Portland place have returned home from Clearwater, Fla., where they spent the late winter. En route home they visited Mr. Robert S. Brookings in Washington, D. C.

$4,000,000 OF CARNEGIE FUND FOR LIBRARY PURPOSES

$1,000,000 to Be Used to Endow Graduate School of Librarianship in a University.

BOSTON, March 30.—Grants of $4,000,000 for library purposes, including $1,000,000 as the first large general endowment gift ever received by the American Library Association, have just been made by the Carnegie Corporation of New York. In announcing this, Charles F. D. Belden, president of the American Library Association, said: "The total grant of $4,000,000 is to be payable over a 10-year period under the program drawn up by F. P. Keppell, president of the Carnegie Corporation and its trustees. One million is to endow a graduate school of librarianship in some great university yet to be named. Another million is to provide an annual income which will be used to aid other library schools. A third is for general endowment of the American Library Association, the income to be used by the association in promoting the extension and development of library service. The fourth million will be used in carrying on the general activities of the association and in aiding library schools until the $2,000,000 endowment in accumulating capital grants is completed."

FREEHOLDERS OF COUNTY BELIEVE CITY PLAN WILL LOSE

McAtee to put the city back in the county under County court control, was a gesture with a foregone conclusion. The committee has four county and three city members and their vote was 4 to 3 on a motion to this effect offered by McAtee, and seconded by Lashly. It was substituted for a city motion to approve the city plan.

This report will be presented to the entire Board of Freeholders at the county courthouse next Monday night in the form of a recommendation. There is no chance of any city freeholder voting with the county group for submission of the McAtee plan for the final vote. It appears some of the county delegation will join in submitting the city plan or else there will be a hopeless deadlock.

Spectators Cheer Speakers.
A noisy partisan gathering of several hundred county residents from all sections contended the public hearing into a lively debate between champions for and against annexation. Scant attention was paid to details of the proposal. Chairman Gardner characterized it as an opportunity to let off steam. The cheering, shouting and catcalls that greeted the speakers indicated approximately equal representation between annexationists and opponents.

Hugh K. Wagner, a city freeholder on the committee and ardent advocate of the merger proposal, opened the discussion, speaking of it in general terms as the only plan fair to both city and county. McAtee undertook to explain details of the scheme, emphasizing some things the county would give up under it. Mrs. Roscoe F. Anderson (city) declared the provision to make the tax rate for city purposes on county farm land not more than 50 per cent of the total rate was not arbitrary and the farm tax rate could be lowered if this was objectionable.

Tax Provision Assailed.
W. W. Henderson, a former State Representative, asserted the county farmers might be subjected to ruinous taxation under annexation, if the graduated rate was knocked out, since the proposal provides that the rate of any one provision shall not affect the rest. The board's counsel has given an opinion that the graduated tax rate was constitutional. Opposing the merger plan, Henderson said the county was the best governed one in the State, for which he was hissed and booed. "Maybe some of you don't like our County Court," he remarked.

President Forshaw of the Annexation League made a lengthy talk in favor of the plan, asserting that city and county have a community of interest and should be developed as one great municipality. He said Richmond Heights, where he resides, has a "comic opera government."

Lashly, addressing the meeting, said the city freeholders had rejected a chance to compromise by submitting a metropolitan area plan that would have stood "a reasonable chance of adoption." He declared the county would lose the city plan. Webster Groves, his home, has a real local self-government, he continued, but present outlying parts of St. Louis are neglected. He maintained there was no authority for graduated taxation, which he opposed.

Overflow Meeting.
Chairman Gardner called attention to the language of the tax provision requiring the tax graduation to be made by the Board of Aldermen.

Mayor R. L. Jacobsmeier, of Kirkwood, a member of the Republican County Committee, said: "I am afraid of losing my job because I think I know more about running Kirkwood than Mayor Miller would. I'm against the plan." J. F. O. Roller, a city freeholder, declared the county would gain able representation in the Board of Aldermen and Board of Education. George E. Stephens, chairman of the Community Council of Webster Groves and professor of economics at Washington University, presented the belief of many Webster Groves residents that they have an admirable government and do not desire a change, unless for a metropolitan area. He said he didn't envy the St. Louis type of public schools and dissented from the view that it was antiquated to have many independent school boards, as in the county.

Meanwhile, several hundred persons gathered in the overflow meeting in another courtroom, which was addressed at length by McAtee, Lashly, Forshaw and others, for and against the plan.

"2X4" CLUB TO EXHIBIT WORK AT THE HEALY GALLERIES

Nineteen St. Louis Artists Will Display Portraits, Landscapes and One Piece of Sculpture.
The first spring exhibit of the "2X4 Club," consisting of 19 St. Louis artists, will open Thursday evening at the Healy Galleries, 4516 Olive street, and continue until April 15.

The exhibit includes four portraits; one by T. Kajawara, of a girl in a scarlet jacket holding a blue vase in her hands; a self-portrait of Warren Ludwig; a pastel portrait of a girl by William V. Schevill; and a decorative portrait by Victor S. Holm, of a girl in a cerise cloak against a background of Japanese crettonne.

The other paintings are landscapes of the East, West and Middle West. Burnett and Goetsch have marine canvases. There is one piece of sculpture called "March Violets." This is the work of Victor Holm, and portrays an awakening girl.

The exhibit contains new works by Tom Barnett, Paul Berdaniel, Oscar Berninghaus, Gustave Goetsch, Prof. Holmes Smith, Takuma Kajawara, Warren Ludwig, M. P. McArdle, Arthur Mitchell, Frank Nudschel, William V. Schevill, Oscar Thalinger, Robert Wright, Carl G. Waldeck, E. H. Wuerpel and Victor S. Holm, who is the president of the society.

WOODLOCK VOTE SECRETLY PARTLY DUE TO KLAN

secret. The opposition of Woodlock, who is a Catholic, partly accounts for it.

The case of Watson of Indiana was particularly distressing. At one time there was a majority of the Interstate Commerce Committee in favor of Woodlock. Watson could have reported the nomination to the Senate at that time, but did not. He waited until an adverse vote was obtained on the committee.

Watson's Predicament.

Why should Watson, who voted for Woodlock, do this? The inference is that he was generally drawn to the Indiana Senator because of his name. Watson was caught in the horns of an embarrassing dilemma. He had either to offend the administration by voting against Woodlock or offend the Klan by continuing to vote for him.

Woodlock's retirement would have been a very happy solution of Watson's difficulty. But Woodlock held on, and Watson and the others who are still bedeviled by the diminishing light of the floor cross were left to stew in their discontent.

The Senate voted down on Saturday a motion by Senator Philipman (Dem.) of Nevada that it go into executive session, with a view to rescinding the secret order. Yesterday the issue came up in executive session and the motion for publicity fell one vote short of the two-thirds majority, which Vice President Dawes held was necessary to change the rule. The vote being 49 for making the roll call public and 55 against.

Pittman, Norris of Nebraska, Borah of Idaho and the others who want publicity intend to keep pressing their demand. Norris says that no other vote taken in the Senate during this session is so important as this one. The country, he thinks, has a right to know exactly how every member of the Senate voted. He has aroused the ire of some Senators by saying the result would have been different if the vote had been taken in the open.

It was without official advice. The subject was discussed among department officials during the day and Ambassador Sheffield at Mexico City probably will be asked to make informal inquiries.

Ambassador Teller's statement was made after he had visited Secretary of State Kellogg, but there was no indication whether the land grant report had been discussed.

An announcement of a land grant was made at San Diego Saturday by Roberto Farfán, a former office holder in the Government of Lower California. He said the grant was to Col. Vazquez of the Mexican Army and a Japanese syndicate.

Adverting to this announcement in the Senate, Senator Johnson said it would be premature for him to comment on the published report, but he added that it came with all the verisimilitude of truth and dealt with a sufficiently grave and important situation that he ought to know exactly the facts.

Senator Johnson recalled the incident of a number of years ago when an American doctor, holding a concession on Magdalena Bay sought the privilege of selling a 35 per cent interest to a Japanese syndicate.

The request led to a resolution in the Senate by Senator Lodge of Massachusetts, and a declaration of policy by then Secretary of State Knox. The Secretary's declaration was that "such a transfer would be quite certain to be interpreted in some quarters in such a manner as to cause a great outcry, and that such a result would be so obviously a cause of regret to the Government of the United States that it would appear unnecessary further to comment upon the disposition of the Federal Government in the premises."

Mexican Minister of Agriculture Denies Sale to Japanese.

MEXICO CITY, March 28.—The Mexican Minister of Agriculture emphatically denied that the Mexican Government was selling a concession to a Japanese syndicate on Magdalena Bay.

In denouncing the report the Minister said that American big game were always attempting to use this subject to start a Mexican-Japanese scare in the United States.

SUED BY WIDOW, MAN IN CELL SAYS HE WILL WED HER

Henry Ludwig Declares He Still Loves Mrs. Emma Klauber, Who Seeks Return of $5115.

Although Mrs. Emma Klauber, a widow, of 5707 McPherson avenue, has filed suit to recover $5115 from Henry Ludwig, bachelor, the latter today said he still loves her, that they are engaged to wed and no doubt will be married as soon as he gets out of jail.

With becoming modesty Ludwig discussed his romance and business deals. Mrs. Klauber, when her version was sought, declined to discuss anything. She is the widow of John Klauber, president of A. Klauber Sons Iron and Metal Co., who died in May, 1924. She is secretary of the firm.

Ludwig, who lived at 4209 Lindell boulevard and was a salesman for the Missouri State Life Insurance Co., has been held at police headquarters since Friday at the request of Scranton, Pa., authorities who think he is Harry Jacobs, wanted at Scranton for a $15,000 fraud and wanted at Poughkeepsie, N. Y., for jumping a $10,000 bond. Ludwig insists he is not Jacobs.

Tells of His Dealings Here.

Possessed of an enormous appetite, which sometimes required seven pork chops and a half dozen eggs for breakfast, Ludwig has suffered pangs of hunger during his "diet" on stew, sausage, bread and such in the police holdover. He has been permitted to send out for additional food, but even so the meals have been inadequate. He weighed about 240 pounds when he entered, and is losing weight daily.

Folding his hands over his diminishing paunch, Ludwig sighed once or twice, and then told reporters some of the things that he had happened to him during his eight-month stay in St. Louis. He had dealings among others, he said, with Morris B. Lipschitz, shoe merchant of 1500 Washington avenue, and Lipschitz introduced him to Mrs. Klauber. Later Ludwig used part of the money obtained from Mrs. Klauber to buy a $25,000 lot at 1920 Washington avenue from Lipschitz.

Meeting With Mrs. Klauber.

"Mrs. Klauber saw me in Lipschitz's office last November," Ludwig narrated. "We were introduced by Morris and had some talk. I heard that she told people I would make a fine husband for somebody, but I was not interested then. About a few weeks I got to thinking. Maybe it was time for me to have a home and all that."

"The lady (Mrs. Klauber) called me up several times and invited me out to her apartment. I accepted the invitation and we got along fine. Yes, she liked me and I liked her. She had a little money from her husband's estate, but she would lose that if she remarried. I told her that's all right. I'm making $20,000 a year and we can get along on that."

Says Woman Visited Him.

"One day she said to me, 'Harry, you're a business man. I want to invest some money and make 6 per cent or more. So we went down to a bank and she gave me $5115. I gave her a note due in a year, drawing 6 per cent."

"I had that lot on Washington avenue in view for some time, so I took $2000 and paid it to Lipschitz, giving the rest of the $25,000 in notes. I spent some more for little things and the rest of her money is in bank."

"Mrs. Klauber isn't sore at me. She's been down to see me here and said said, 'Harry, can I do anything for you?' She wouldn't have filed that suit if it wasn't for her lawyer and relatives. Why, I'll marry her today if I can get out. We were going to marry in April."

Asked if it was true, as charged in Mrs. Klauber's suit to recover the $5115, that he represented he owned $100,000 in bonds and the Gay Building at Third and Pine streets, Ludwig laughed and replied, "Why, I don't even know where the Gay Building is."

Lipschitz's Story.

Morris Lipschitz and his son, Isadore, have keen recollections of Ludwig.

"He came in our store last fall and introduced himself," the senior Lipschitz related. "He told me he came from Florida where he had sold $400,000 in real estate and that he wanted to buy my lot on Washington avenue and put up a skyscraper. He showed lots of intelligence and was very smart. He was smarter than you and I put together."

"He wore $150 overcoats, $100 suits and $5 ties," interrupted Isadore Lipschitz. "He could eat three steaks at one meal. It cost $15 a day to feed him."

"But he didn't get anything from me," resumed Morris Lipschitz. "He bought the lot from me for $25,000 and has been offering to sell it for $50,000. I made a little profit on the deal and I'm protected with mortgages. If he doesn't pay these notes, I'll foreclose."

Ludwig Indignant Over Arrest.
When Lipschitz and his son visited Ludwig in his cell, he was indignant over his detention. "Some people live in St. Louis all their lives and only own the clothing on their back and never pay taxes," he told them. "I've been here a few months and already I'm a property owner and a taxpayer. Why should they arrest me?"

Remember this Advertisement when you prepare your will

THE MAN who is preparing his will should not select his executor without careful consideration.

The responsibility which an executor assumes is a vital one. He should be experienced in business matters and should understand the legal conditions under which an executor works. He must be familiar with the various tax provisions under which the estate will fall. He must be equipped to do the clerical labor necessary in keeping the estate adjusted, a complicated matter in an estate of varied interests. He must be thoroughly familiar with investments and experienced in their handling.

If you name the St. Louis Union Trust Company as your executor, your estate will receive the benefit of our thorough knowledge of estate procedure; our wide experience in business matters; our financial responsibility; our continuous existence, which assures the carrying out of your instructions without interruptions or delays. Your family will always be assured of the utmost consideration and friendly helpfulness in financial matters.

Our officers will be glad to explain to you many ways in which this sturdy old Trust Company can serve you in estate matters. You can consult with them about your own affairs in absolute confidence and without obligation.

HIGH SCHOOL LIQUOR PARTY CITED BY OMAHA PRINCIPAL

Explains Why City Won't Compete in Interscholastic Tournament at Lincoln, Neb.

By the Associated Press. OMAHA, Neb., March 29.—An instance of high school girls and boys drinking in a Lincoln (Neb.) hotel was cited today by Dwight E. Porter, principal of the Omaha Technical High School, in connection with the withdrawal of Omaha high schools from competition at the State Interscholastic basketball tournaments at Lincoln. Porter asserted that the withdrawal was not based on this particular episode, but he related it as indicating "what was happening and might happen in the future."

"Four high school girls rented a room in a Lincoln hotel," Porter said, "and then permitted three other girls, not of the Omaha schools, to share the room without registering, on payment of half of the rent. These three girls brought to the room two boys, one of whom had liquor. Later all of them were requested to leave the hotel."

University of Nebraska athletic authorities and officers of the State High School Athletic Association have expressed surprise at the action of the Omaha high school principals.

STRIKERS' COMPLAINTS DENIED
Textile Workers at Passaic Accused Police of Assault in Riots.
By the Associated Press. PASSAIC, N. J., March 29.—Police Judge William B. Davidson has refused to accept complaints of assault and battery contained in affidavits from 11 striking textile workers against Chief of Police Zehner and 18 patrolmen for injuries in strike riots. The cases were prepared for the strikers by the American Civil Liberties Union. Judge Davidson declared he would not allow complaints against police for conduct in the performance of their duty. Five women strikers were among those who sought to enter complaints.

The drivers of two truck loads of bread from New York for strikers were arrested yesterday afternoon for speeding. The trucks carried 2,000 loaves. Three were held in Clinton on Thursday on the same charge. At four mass meetings Albert Weisbord, strike organizer, speaking advised his hearers that they should show resistance if force were used by police.

BUYS WEST VIRGINIA MINES
Old Ben Coal Corporation to Enlarge Holdings in Nonunion Fields.
By the Associated Press. CHICAGO, March 29.—The Old Ben Coal Corporation has verified reports that it has been acquiring mining properties in West Virginia and has established connections with various operating companies in Eastern and Western Kentucky, all of which are nonunion fields.

The Old Ben Corporation, one of the largest producers, has 12 large mines in Southern Illinois, but only two of them are producing. Ten of its Southern Illinois mines were closed, it was stated, because of noncompetitive conditions brought about by the war-time agreement with the miners' union.

SURPASSING SOUNDNESS

It is hard to tell the simple truth about the Chrysler Imperial "80" without appearing to overstress. Thus, it sounds almost incredible to say that in the Imperial "80" an old and proven engineering principle has yielded up unheard-of qualities. But it is a fact which half an hour's experience will prove. The 92 horsepower motor, for instance, delivers at long continued high speeds a steadiness hitherto unknown. This is just one of a score of new qualities which demonstrate the engineering and structural soundness of the car—a soundness of quality and workmanship which guarantee years and years of the unapproached satisfaction which only Chrysler can give.

BOYS! GIRLS! THIS NEW Flying Flash is offered

A JAMESVILLE PRODUCT

The Flying Flash is a new type of juvenile vehicle, with novel features that will delight any fun-loving boy or girl.

You may ride on the back seat and steer with the pole in upright position or attach the pole quickly to the front socket and coast with one foot at the side and one knee in wagon bed. With the steering pole in the front socket you are ready for any coaster wagon service, pulling forward or pushing backward with perfect ease and safety.

Steer from back or front

Quickly convertible—wagon, coaster or glider.

STURDY! SPEEDY! SAFE!

The Flying Flash is a new Jamesville product. Thousands of boys and girls who have earned awards of free Jamesville Wagons offered by the Post-Dispatch will not need to be told that the sturdiness of Jamesville construction and the speed of Jamesville ball-bearing wheels have earned for Jamesville vehicles first place in the estimation of fun-loving boys and girls. The new Flying Flash is truly representative of Jamesville ideals and Jamesville traditions.

The Political Undertow
McAdoo Influence Felt
Behind Democratic Drips

Retirement Not to Be Taken Seriously If Gov. Smith
Again Pushes to Fore—Significant Situation in Iowa —Party Not Averse to Backing a Wet for Presidency If It Thinks It Can Win With One.

By CHARLES S. MICHELSON,
A Staff Correspondent of the Post-Dispatch and the New York World.
(Copyright, 1926.)

WASHINGTON, March 30.—
Representative Rankin's announcement that no wet candidate and no wet platform plank would figure in the Democratic convention of 1928 is interpreted to be the opening gun of the McAdoo campaign.

Dan Roper and Senator Simmons and other McAdoo supporters say that no such campaign has been planned; that so far as they know the West's contribution to the personnel of that inferno at Madison Square Garden in 1924 is attending strictly to the legal business and wasting no time thinking of politics. McAdoo was in Washington last week and visited all the faithful, but none of them will admit that there was anything more than sociability behind his visit, or that his presidential aspirations were even mentioned.

It may be so, but the Mississippi Democrat's announcement in the course of the prohibition debate which was meant to read Gov.
Smith of New York and Gov.
Ritchie of Maryland out of the picture, had all the marks of being inspired.

Retirement Not Credited.
McAdoo's retirement is given no more credence than the statement that Al Smith is in going for the seat in the sea of business at the expiration of his present term as Governor. There never has been and probably never will be a case of a man once conspicuous as a candidate for the Presidency obliterating himself as long as there was even the faintest shadow of a remote chance that a shuffle of the political deck might bring him up again.

This broad statement goes for them all—including Charles Evans Huebsch, Gov. Frank Lowden, Gen.
Wood, James M. Cox and John W.
Davis as well as for the two whose long battle elected Calvin Coolidge
so handsomely.

A year or so ago the word first came out of the West that McAdoo had divorced himself from any further thought of the Presidency.
That was the period of the temporary revival of the National Democrat, proclaimed as an organ devoid of personal partisanship.

Precisely it developed that the publisher of the paper was Elrod,
the Kluxer, and when the lackers of the enterprise were revealed the list read like the muster roll of the McAdoo strength in the 1924 convention, and at the same time had a dozen press bureaus functioning under various aliases
throughout the country were engaged in spreading McAdoo propaganda.

November Will Tell Tale.
Rankin's declaration was sincere enough. In the face of the revu-sion of feeling toward the Volstead act the dries cannot admit that there is the ghost of an opportunity for a wet anywhere. It will not be until after next November that the country will know if the rebellion amounts to anything or not.

Meanwhile, it behooves every representative of a dry district to be more zealous than the Anti-League League itself. In times of peril court-martial is the certain result of wavering.

The other day there was a dinner to Gov. Ritchie in his neighboring State of Virginia. The Maryland wet hope is personally enormously popular in Virginia. The congressional delegation from Virginia is totally Democratic, and Ritchie is the outstanding Democratic Governor of his section as Smith is in the North and Donahue of Ohio in the West, but at this dinner in honor of the leading ex-ponents of the South's cardinal issue, state's rights, there was only one out of Virginia's dozen Senators and Representatives; that was Del.
of the wicked Norfolk district.

The other visit Ritchie at Annapolis, but did not dare be seen in his company in their own state.
However, most of them in conveying their regrets explained how it was, and Ritchie, being a politican himself, understood and forgave.

A lot of things may happen in two years, among them the demonstration that the prohibition tide is turning.

Let the Wets Prove Case.
Let the Democratic party demonstrate to the South that it can win with a wet, though this involved dealing with depraved New York and recreant Maryland, and it will listen to reason. It is tired of the husks of defeat; weary of voting to confirm Republicans for the honorable and lucrative jobs that Washington hands out as a reward for party service. It is dry, but it will always have an alibi in state's rights.

Let the country choose a wet President if it is so lost to the enormity of having men in office who vote for rum instead of merely drinking it—the Southern states will still be as dry as they wish.
This condition does not exist yet;
it is still to be demonstrated that a wet can be elected, hence such explosions as that of the Tupelo statesman.

The 1928 election is linked with the struggle coming next November by more than the prohibition question.

The ousting from the Senate of Brookhart, forecast by the vote of the Committee on Privileges and Elections, in the end may furnish a clue to the McAdoo intentions.

Brookhart, if he does not lose his nerve between April and April 29, will take the nomination for the senior Senator of Iowa away from the veteran Albert B. Cummings, thus not only paying back
the administration for what it did to him, but perhaps coming back to the Senate more importantly than before. He is more certain of gratifying the first of these laudable purposes than the second. If he backs Cummings, as the political form sheets show he ought to do, the Loyallists of his party are all expected to repeat their performances of 1924 by voting for the Democrat, and if he is the right sort of Democrat he ought to win less easily than did Steak.

Meredith in the Picture.
This brings ex-Secretary of Agriculture Edwin Thomas Meredith into the picture. He is Iowa's star Democratic exhibit. He was so true to McAdoo that he refused to run for Vice President with anybody else. Incidentally, like Wash-of Montana, he did not see the glory that lay in going for the Senatorship he might win with the opposition split as it is bound to do.

If Meredith shoots at the Presidency this will fit in beautifully.
Of course, battling for a Democratic Senatorship from Iowa
sounds like competing for the
know-nothing championship of Cuba,
but with the Steak precedent anything is possible.

It is rather fortunate for Democrats that the untimely turning of the Iowa opportunity came when it
did.

be in the event either of Brook-hart's succeeding or failing in the Republican primaries. Meredith once had an ambition to be a Senator; he ran in 1914 and was gracefully snowed under by Cummings.

If anybody knows what McAdoo intends it is his brother member of the Wilson Cabinet, who incendentally owns banks and vast successful farm journals and is believed by the grangers even though a Democrat.

It is the new Iowa idea that the Democrats should nominate a Western man, identified with the farm interests, against the industrial East's Republican candidate, presumably Mr. Coolidge.

Meredith is enthusiastically in accord with the Iowa idea, but he is bound to McAdoo. Hence, if Meredith accepts the Senatorship,
it will be taken to mean that Mc-Adoo again is going to try for the big job, and his faithful supporter will not get in his way. If, on the other hand, Meredith passes up the Senatorship everybody out his way will understand that McAdoo will only come in if it should appear that there is danger that Al Smith would otherwise get the nomination, and that if Smith can be kept out that the Des Moines publisher and banker will try for the Presidency and McAdoo will pull for him.

Some Obstacles in Way.
There are some more obstacles to one of these routes, Clyde Herring, who took the Iowa Democracy away from William Marsh and held the State for McAdoo by a half a vote during a century of ballots at Madison Square, has his eye on that Senatorship.

If Meredith shoots at the Presidency this will fit in beautifully.
Of course, battling for a Democratic Senatorship from Iowa
sounds like competing for the
know-nothing championship of Cuba,
but with the Steak precedent anything is possible.

It is rather fortunate for Democrats that the untimely turning of
the Iowa opportunity came when it
did.

Your Smile

can be given dazzling white teeth, and pretty gums quickly, this new way.

You can now work wonders quickly by removing the dingy film that clouds your teeth and imperils healthy gums. Please accept this remarkable dental test.

STUDY attractive people, men or women.
Note the tremendous parts gleaming, clear teeth play. Off-color teeth are an injustice to one's smile. Don't permit them to mar yours.

And don't believe your teeth are naturally dull and colorless. You can disprove that in a few days. Can work a transformation. Millions are doing it today.

Modern science has found a new way in tooth and gum care. A way different from any you have ever known. Just send the coupon for a 10-day test.

Remove that film—see what a great difference comes

Run your tongue across your teeth, and you will feel a film, a viscous coat that covers them.

That film is an enemy to your teeth—
and your gums. You must remove it.

It clings to teeth, gets into crevices and stays. It absorbs discolorations and gives your teeth that cloudy, "off-color" look.
Germs by the millions breed in it and lay your teeth open to decay.

And they, with tartar,
are a chief cause of pyorrhea and gum disorders.
Tooth troubles and gum troubles now are largely traced to that film. Old-time methods fail in successfully combating it.
That's why, regardless of the care you take now, your teeth remain dull and unattractive.

New methods remove it.
And Firm the Gums

Now, in a new-type dentifrice called Pepsodent, dental science has discovered effective combatants. Their action is to curdle the film and remove it, then to firm the gums to coral tint.

Now what you see when that film is removed—the whiteness of your teeth—
will amaze you.

Ordinary methods fail in these results.
Thus the world has turned, largely on dental advice, to this new method.

A few days' use will prove its power beyond all doubt. Mail the coupon. A ten-day tube will be sent you free.

Does Your Ad
Sound True?

When a man writes an advertisement he should read it over very carefully to avoid overstatements. We are naturally enthusiastic about the goods we sell; it is natural for us to exaggerate a little.

Avoid this danger. Your readers are on the lookout. If they think you are trying to "bally hoo" them into buying, they become wary.

It's much better to say simply, "We've just received a mighty good shipment of prunes" than to shout about "our magnificent array of succulent dried fruits."

Don't you see?—It's all just a simple matter of straightforward Eng-

Let Tanlac
restore your health

If your body is all fagged-out and run down, if you are losing weight steadily, lack appetite, have no strength or energy—why not let Tanlac help you back to health and strength?

So many millions have been benefited by the Tanlac treatment, so many thousands have written testimonies to that effect that it's sheer folly not to make the test.

Tanlac, you know, is a great natural tonic and builder, a compound, after the famous Tanlac formula, of roots, herbs and herbs.
It purges the blood stream, revitalizes the digestive organs and enables the sickly body to regain its vanished weight.

You don't need to wait long to get results. Tanlac goes right to the seat of trouble. In a dry or so you note a vast difference in your condition. You have more appetite, sleep better at night and the color begins to creep back into your washed-out cheeks.

Don't put off taking Tanlac another precious day. Step into the nearest drug store and get a bottle of this world-famed tonic. That's the first important step back to health and vigor. Every day's delay means unnecessary suffering for Tanlac starts to clean out and tone up the system right away.

Saves Job and Health
"For I felt so gloved out I could hardly stand up. I was nervous, dizzy, had no appetite and could not digest my food. I had pains in my back and just had to drag myself around."
"But Tanlac turned the trick in my favor. Now I am in as good health as ever in my life. I have renewed

O'Farrell Drives in Both Runs for Hornsby's Men In Seven-Inning Contest

St. Louis Team Enthusiastic Over Its Pennant Chances After Showing the Same Punch Against Collins' Club That It Displayed Against Bush Leaguers.

By William J. McGoogan, Of the Post-Dispatch Sport Staff.

DALLAS, Tex., March 29.—There is much joy in the Cardinal camp today, for the team has proved that it can defeat a major league ball club just as minor league clubs have been beaten. One swallow doesn't always constitute a violation of the Volstead act nor a victory over the Chicago White Sox doesn't mean a share in the world series spoils, but when that victory is accomplished under abominable conditions and is attained by splendid baseball it indicates that the team which won is worthy of consideration.

To Bill Hallahan and Bob O'Farrell goes the credit for the 2-0 defeat of the White Sox in the first important game which the Cardinals have played this spring. Bill did the pitching and held the Sox to two safeties, while O'Farrell furnished the punch at bat, driving in his team's two runs with timely wall-punches.

The whole club looked good even on a rain-soaked diamond. There were no errors and Leverage and Blankenship, the Chicago hurlers, were found for eight hits, four of them doubles. Everybody on the team, with the exception of Thelen and Hallahan, hit safely, the base running was good and every advantage was taken of the slightest loophole.

Another Bill Sherdel. Hallahan's pitching was the brightest spot in a well-illuminated game. The young southpaw, who is built like Bill Sherdel, is beginning to resemble Sherdel on the mound. He has shown a world of stuff all spring but yesterday, under fire, he demonstrated his real worth.

The youngster was wild—he is used five bases on balls—but the wonder is not that he walked so many, but that he walked so few. The ball was a treacherous thing to handle, for the whole game was played in a rain which came down in such a flood that at the completion of the seventh inning the umpires took command of the suffering athletes and declared the contest at an end.

When danger threatened Hallahan was there. He not only pitched himself out of some tight places, but he used his head to get out of one when he picked William Kamm off second base. On another occasion the southpaw knocked down a smash from Sheely's bat and deflected it to Hornsby, who threw the runner out, this while Collins was perched on third base, and two were out.

O'Farrell There in Pinch. Chicago fans must have had severe heart attacks when they read of the way Bob O'Farrell acted. The burly catcher came through twice with runners in scoring position and two out. On the first occasion Hornsby was on second base, to which station he advanced with a double, and O'Farrell hit the fence in left center for a double to chase Hafey across the plate. Then in the fourth inning, with Bottomley on second base and two down, Bob drove a grounder between Scott and Kamm, which was good for a single and enabled Bottomley to score.

In addition it was largely due to O'Farrell's efforts that Hallahan looked so good. The young southpaw has confidence in Bob and when the catcher told him to do this and do that, he did it and he deflected thereby. O'Farrell encouraged the youngster in every way, coached him along from inning to inning and when things grew dismal, he trusted out to the pitcher's box with a pat on the back and a word of counsel which helped materially to bring Hallahan home a winner.

Cards Display Punch. There had been some doubt expressed as to whether the Cardinals would continue to hit when they faced big league pitchers. But they certainly showed Leverage and Blankenship that the club possessed a punch. Not only because they made eight hits, but it was the kind of hits they were. Good solid ringing smashes of them, warming the fences or burning past the infielders' gloves. In the sixth inning when Blankenship went to the hill, Bottomley was the first man to face him and Jim shot a low liner to center field which unfortunately went directly at Mostil. Hafey followed with a smash to the right field wall at which Burgett made a fine catch.

Leslie Bell had seen what the White Sox outfielders could do so he took no chances and hit the ball high enough against the left field fence so Falk had no chance to get it and the drive was good for two bases.

Falk incidentally robbed Heinie Mueller of a hit when he went deep into left center in the third frame and pulled down a drive from Fiborek's bat.

The White Sox appear to be a good ball team, well balanced and with good pitching should cause any team trouble.

Another Game Today. Another game today, if weather permits. Sherdel or Haines will pitch for the Cards while Collins will pitch for the Sox. The Cardinals plan to start Thurston, Eddie says his pitchers are not far enough

He Shut Out the White Sox

Schaefer Gains 56-Point Lead In 18.1 Match

Hoppe Makes New World's Record High Run of 148 in Tilt.

By the Associated Press.
NEW YORK, March 30.—William Hoppe's last billiard crown has been tilted by the marvelous cue of Jake Schaefer.

With two 200-point blocks of the 2600-point match for the world's 18-ball title behind them, Schaefer has a lead of 56, having won the night block yesterday, 248 to 244, after the champion had taken the afternoon play, 300 to 232.

Hoppe set a world high run of 148 in the afternoon. The former champion yesterday was made by Frank Ives. Schaefer, whose high run was 125, recently made 212 in a single turn at the table during an exhibition match in the Middle West.

Two blocks will be played today. The inning scores:
Afternoon:
Schaefer, 0, 50, 120, 25, 0, 4, 15, 18—232.
Hoppe, 29, 32, 1, 148, 1, 0, 46, 1, 40—300.
Night:
Schaefer, 5, 75, 18, 37, 55, 109, 26, 7, 15—368—600.

NATIONAL SOCCER FINAL TO BE PLAYED AT BROOKLYN, APRIL 11

Cardinals Are Picked to Finish in Third Position

Eastern Critic Thinks St. Louis Pitching Staff Is Not Strong Enough to Enable Hornsby's Men to Beat Pittsburgh and New York.

By Davis J. Walsh.
Special to the Post-Dispatch.
NEW YORK, March 30.—With the final out of the last world's series, the boys rallied right around the situation and arrived at the masterly conclusion that the Pittsburgh Pirates would be an excellent bet for the 1926 pennant in the National League. The writer happened to be one of these agile thinkers and he has seen no good reason to change his opinion in the meantime, although there has been a certain amount of clamor appertaining to New York's well-known Giants.

As far as I am concerned, the Pirates still look the part of a slightly superior club, in spite of the fact that the Giants are an improved outfit. They will have to be. The burden of proof lies strictly with them, not the Pirates.

Regarding the case in this light: Have the Giants improved enough to catch a club that in 1925 scored 912 runs to their 736? That batted .307 as a team to their .283 and got 1551 hits for 2408 total bases as against 1507 hits and 2010 total bases? That stole 159 bases to the Giants' 79, more than twice as many?

Giving the Giants a slight edge in pitching and general team balance, I still think the race will finish in this manner:

|--------------|-------------|
| 1. Pirates | 5. Dodgers |
| 2. Giants | 6. Braves |
| 3. Cardinals | 7. Phillies |
| 4. Reds | 8. Cubs |

It is fact, not fancy, that most of the Giants' improvement has been concentrated on defense, although Young and Snyder are likely to hit better this year and perhaps raise the effectiveness of the team attack by as many as 10 percentage points.

One can point out that the Pirates pitchers are not as good as they need to be and that the right side of the infield lacks real class but when those young men starting hitting they make any defensive fault look like a virtue.

At that, much depends on how well Max Carey weathers his recent illness. The Pirates are just a better club without Carey. Still, their secondary strength should be better for the fact that Rhyme and Warner, the Coast leaguers, are said to be making the raffle.

The Cardinals, young and coming, have a great chance to make their hitting pay real dividends, but only an ordinary field could be beaten with that pitching staff. The 1926 field will be far from ordinary.

CHICAGO, March 30.—A brilliant array of high school cage talent was here today for the opening games of the eighth national intercollegiate basketball tournament at the University of Chicago. Forty teams, representing 35 States, are entered.

Beginning at noon today there will be games every hour until 10 o'clock tonight and play in the first bracket will be resumed tomorrow morning, continuing until 9 p. m. Play will proceed daily until the two surviving quintets battle for the title Saturday night.

The opening series matches teams from widely separated sections of the nation, the two quintets in the initial encounter having traveled a total of 2500 miles for the 40 minutes of play from which only one can emerge victorious.

Today's pairings follow:
12 noon—Torrington, Conn., and Brockbridge of San Antonio, Tex.
1 p. m.—Chester, Wyo., and Fort Valley, Ga.
2 p. m.—Pine Bluff, Ark., and Lexington, Ky., and Oregon, Utah.

Senators' Manager Favors Giants to Win N. L. Pennant

Special to the Post-Dispatch.
TAMPA, Fla., March 30.—"Buck" Harris, manager of the Washington Senators, is in line to bet a suit of clothes that the Giants win the National League pennant.

"I like the Giants," said the manager of the Senators yesterday. "Pittsburgh has a good ball club, but I think that McGraw's club will come back this year and win the pennant. Their penance chances last year were injured by many accidents."

"The Giants' pitching staff is better this year and I figure that they'll finish in front. I'm willing to bet a suit of clothes that they'll win the National League pennant."

Show Prizes Won By Carrel and Hines Kennels

Illinois Dogs Take Trophies in St. Louis Beagle Club's Spring Events.

Prize winners in the fifth annual spring field trials and the second annual spring specialty show of the St. Louis Beagle Club, held last Friday, Saturday and Sunday at Wentzville, have been announced.

Hines' Kennel, owned by L. W. Hines of Girard (Ill.), was one of the outstanding contenders in the field trials, winning first place in the 15-inch Derby and in the 15-inch all-age events. Plymouth Nell, owned by George P. Burleigh of St. Louis, was the prize winner in the 12-inch all-age Derby and the 12-inch Derby prize went to Atlatol's Dog, owned by John G. Atlatol of St. Louis.

The bench show, also won by Hines' Kennel, played a prominent part, winning the best dog in the show trophy with his Shady Shores Shaper, Harry Henderson, with bench show trophy won by Shady Shores Shaper.

The judges were L. Paul Skaggs of Lincoln (Ill.) and W. D. Lancaster of Springfield (Ill.).

Lamotte in Atlanta to Have Injured Cheek Bone Treated

Brownies Will Have Only One Infield Reserve—Melillo—if Shortstop Is Unable to Return to Duty—Hurt by Batted Ball That Took a Bad Bounce.

By John E. Wray.
Sports Editor of the Post-Dispatch.
TARPON SPRINGS, Fla., March 30.—Robbie (that's his real name and not a diminutive) Lamotte is today undergoing treatment in Atlanta, Ga., the result of which will determine whether the Browns' infield reserve strength is to remain at topnotch. Lamotte's cheek bone failed to respond to treatment at Tarpon Springs and Manager Sisler sent him to a specialist.

If the injury develops into something serious enough to handicap Lamotte's play, it will reduce the Browns' regular infield reserves to one, Melillo, with Rice capable of going to third corner if the worst should happen and two men were out simultaneously.

It was believed that landing and perhaps boning up were the worst that Lamotte need fear, but no report has yet been received from him.

The Jinx Champion.
Lamotte can easily claim the jinx championship. In five years there has been only one season in which he was not laid out by injury. In 1922 he sprained an ankle and was out for some time. In 1923 he developed a contracted tendon that cost him months of time and hundreds of dollars in treatment before he finally regained his effectiveness for Washington. The 1924 season was his good one. In 1925 he was spiked during the period he was playing for Cleveland and played almost a month with a big toe that had no chance to heal. Lamotte had to cut the toe off his baseball shoe, and after each game the taping was bloody from the reopened wound.

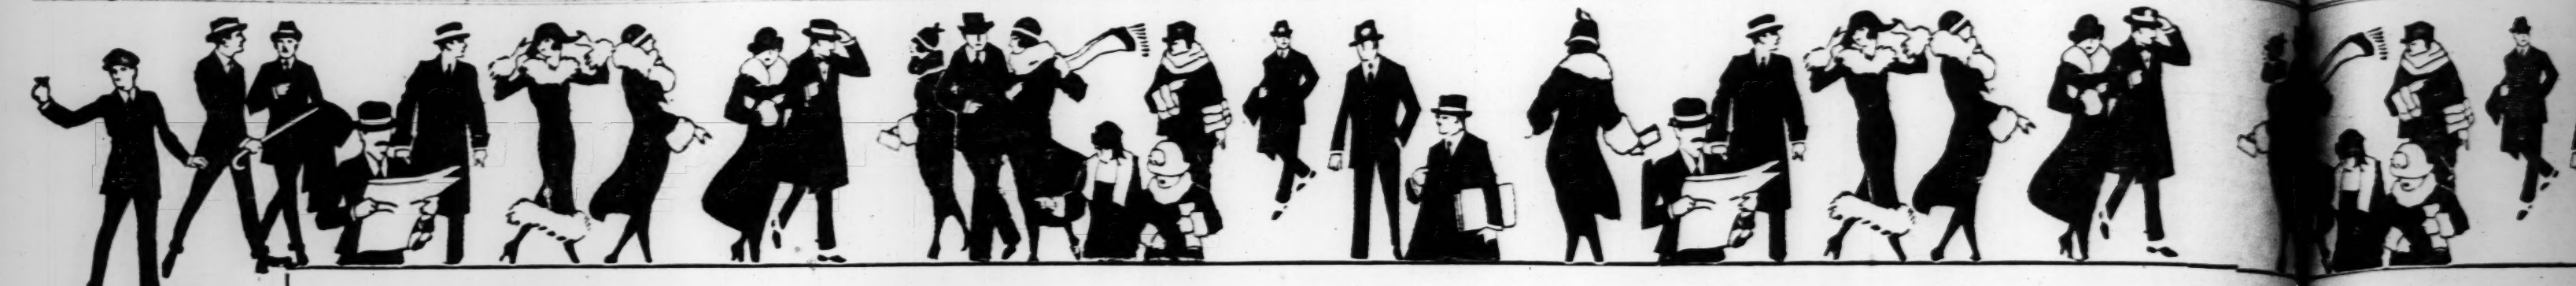

This year Ken Williams' drive on the hard-baked infield took an awkward bound and smashed into Lamotte's right cheek bone. A fearsome looking bruise developed, but fortunately the eye escaped serious hurt. Whether the bone is fractured remains to be revealed.

If This Be Consolation.
By a queer quirk of fate, Lamotte would have escaped a serious injury had he been playing where it might have been expected that Sisler would try him out, at third base. Sisler's experiments this year have been with the idea of getting the best use out of the infielders by having them at their disposal. Melillo has been used at second base, where he belongs. Lamotte last year showed what he could do at shortstop.

Third base was the really debatable point, but Manager Sisler has seen fit to try out McManus, a second baseman, at the hot corner, rather than Melillo and Lamotte, as might have been expected.

And here is where Lamotte comes in.
Lamotte's normal position is third base and it was at this corner that he played 64 games for the Washington club. Had he been getting his tryout at the so-called "hot corner" he would have escaped this year's setback.

"I don't know why they think third base the 'hot corner,'" Lamotte remarked one day at Tarpon Springs. Third base to me is the easiest of all infield positions to play."

STOCKS OPEN IRREGULAR, THEN HARDEN

After What Appeared to Be Necessitous Selling at Opening Was Completed Market Swings Upward on Bidding for High-Priced Industrial Specialties.

By the Associated Press.
NEW YORK, March 30.—Further liquidation developed at the opening of today's market, carrying prices irregularly lower. Postum cereal broke 4 1/2 points on the first sale and Woolworth 2, both to low records for the year. Buying support was apparent for a few issues, American Can opening a point higher and General Motors and Hudson improving fractionally on initial sales.

New Lows Recorded.
New low records for the year were established in the first few minutes of trading by such popular issues as Allied Chemical, S. K. Sarge, Woolworth, Consolidated Gas, Postum Cereal, International Nickel, Marland, U. S. Rubber and North American Co. This liquidation represented necessities selling but it was soon completed and the market quickly swung upward when active bidding developed for the high-priced industrial specialties. General Electric, Sears-Roebuck and DuPont went quickly up 4 to 5 points above yesterday's final quotations and Allied Chemical, General Asphalt, General Petroleum, Ward Baking "B" and several others advanced 2 points or more. Short covering operations were conducted in aggressive fashion.

Belgian Franc Down.
With the exception of Belgian francs, which broke 8 points to a new low record for all time at 27 1/2 cents, all of the principal foreign exchanges opened higher. French francs rallied over 3 points to 24 1/2 cents and demand for the dollar ruled firm around 44 1/2.

Financial and Industrial Briefs

NEW YORK, March 30.—Van Camp Packing Co. declared a dividend of 5 1/2% a share on the preferred stock, payable to holders of record April 1. The date of payment will be announced later. The previous dividend on the preferred was paid in April, 1925.

More than 2,000 tons of pig iron were sold in the New York district last week, about 100 tons more than the week before. Prices are unchanged at the base of 22 1/2 a ton, eastern Pennsylvania, and 24 1/2 a ton, western Pennsylvania, and 24 1/2 a ton, foreign. Demand continues to enter the western district in good quantities.

Wall Street News and Comment

By a Special Correspondent of the Post-Dispatch.

NEW YORK, March 30.—Price changes in the opening transactions on the Stock Exchange today were mixed. In some issues the violent liquidation of the preceding session had evidently not been completed and there was further decline; in others short covering combined with a certain amount of cautious new buying brought about recovery. Some large blocks came out directly at the opening. For instance, Postum Cereal opened down over three-quarters, at a new low.

Woolworth broke a point and a half from the preceding close on a sale of 2500 shares, a large amount for a stock so high priced. On the other hand, General Motors opened up half a point and Hudson was fractionally higher at the start. Fleischmann, in which a very large short interest had been built up, opened at an advance of a point and a quarter also in large volume. Armour "B", one of the favorites in the last speculation for the rise, sold at a new low. United States Steel, which closed at 117 on Monday, opened at 115 1/2, but quickly advanced above the previous low. As trading proceeded, what was true of Steel was true of the other leaders, that is to say the market for the shares was in a state of confusion. General Electric up 3 1/2 points and Woolworth all improved on the initial quotations after the first 15 minutes. Most of the mills were moderate higher, but they were not as active as the industrial.

SEARCH FOR RECORDS OF EARLY TRADER

Boatmen Seek Notes of Captain James Cook, Made Hundreds of Years Ago.

By the Associated Press.

ANCHORAGE, Alaska, March 30.—Efforts are being made by boatmen plying Cook Inlet to find records deposited by Capt. James Cook hundreds of years ago on Point Possession, a tabular jutting into the upper inlet.

It is believed these are in the hands of members of the old Russian colony about Nihilnik, or were treasured by the natives following their discovery of the state monument erected by Cook on the occasion of his first visit to the waterway bearing his name.

Story of the Visit.
Capt. George Howe, Sr., one of the oldest shipmen in Alaskan waters, gives the legend narrated to him by an old Indian chief telling of Cook's historic visit about as follows:

Capt. Cook brought his ship to anchor near Kenai. It was the first time the aborigines had ever beheld a sailing vessel. They decided to send one man out in his birch canoe to reconnoiter the strange craft, to ascertain if its mission was hostile or friendly. He was instructed to give a signal with his paddle if hostile.

When the native got close to the schooner, Capt. Cook by signs prevailed on him to get aboard where he was met by a group of natives and finally dressed out in fancy clothes. He was made to understand that all the Indians could have such things and others in exchange for furs.

When the Indian returned to shore he was a marvel to behold, and was pressed for explanations. He conveyed the invitation to trade and the Indians loaded their canoes with furs and bannocks.

Tale after tale of costly sea offer, beaver, marten, mink and other furs that today would command a king's ransom were taken to the schooner and swapped for goods. Several days were consumed in the transaction.

At the conclusion of the trading, Capt. Cook sailed to Point Possession, disembarked and erected a large stone cairn, in which he deposited records of his voyage and experience. For years this monument stood and was visited by many Indians. It was cherished as a monument of the white man's first visit.

The tale began to rip at the first of the month.

MORE THAN 200 STOCKS SOLD AT NEW LOWS FOR YEAR IN YESTERDAY'S MARKET SLUMP

Net Losses in Active Shares Ran From 1 to 10 Points With Sharper Breaks in Some Ordinarily Inactive Issues.

By the Associated Press.
NEW YORK, March 30.—All classes of stocks were thrown overboard in yesterday's market, with the result that over 200 issues crashed to new low levels for the year. Net losses in the active shares ran from 1 to 10 points, with even sharper breaks in some of the ordinarily inactive averages. Both the rail and industrial averages showed net declines of over 2 1/2 points. Trading was in heavy volume, the day's sales aggregating 2,701,600 shares.

The reaction was not associated with anything in the day's news, although the calling of about $25,000,000 additional in bank loans, which sent the call money down from 4 1/2 to 5 1/2 per cent, undoubtedly stimulated the selling movement. The only explanation which found general acceptance was that large blocks of distressed pools and the holdings of apparently overvalued market and that until these were liquidated little improvement could be hoped for.

Rails and oils which previously had offered stubborn ground resistance to selling pressure were finally engulfed by yesterday's temporary movement, indicating support for those issues. Prices were reactionary from the start, but it was not until United States Steel common and General Motors and Hudson previous points that the weakness became general.

Short covering operations brought about feeble rallies in some issues in the last hour, but closing prices were around the low end of the day.

United States Steel common, which sold as high as 13 1/2 earlier in the year, dropped from 12 1/2 to 11 1/2.

STRADE DISEASE AFFECTS FISHERMEN IN THE BALTIC

Prussian Lower House Approves $120,000 for Study of Ailment.
Like Paralysis, the Post-Dispatch Correspondence from the Baltic.

BERLIN, March 30.—The Prussian Lower House has passed a credit of $120,000 for the purpose of having a scientific investigation of a mysterious disease which is affecting fishermen in that part of the Baltic known as the "Haff," one of the best of the northern European fishing grounds.

Local medical skill has been baffled by this curious epidemic, which has now and has brought more than a year of suffering to the fishermen in that part of the Baltic almost to a standstill.

The theory has been put forward by a Berlin specialist that the disease is a result of chemical waste from that part of the coast, which is a very thorough chemical investigation will have to be made before the truth of the matter can be ascertained.

LANDSOWNE SEWER PROJECT AGAIN AN ISSUE IN E. ST. LOUIS

A public hearing before the Board of Public Improvements of East St. Louis was held yesterday to consider the construction of a system of sewers in Landsowne, an estimated cost of $338,000. The board has passed a resolution in favor of the improvement.

The meeting was continued until next Monday at the request of a number of property owners, who are not objecting to the improvement, but who said the improvement assessment was not impartially spread. The assessment is an item of $47,268 in the estimate for the cost of making the sewerage and collecting the assessment and another for the cost of installing a floor drain at $7500. A meeting will be held at 8 p. m. Thursday at the Jefferson School by the board to discuss these points and decide on a plan of action.

The Landsowne sewer project has been defeated twice before. It was defeated in 1914, when it was defeated in the last City administration election in the Landsowne district.

Mysterious Sweetheart

By Ella Wister Haines

CHAPTER XXXV. THE WEB UNTANGLES.

"My angry at Walter's disloyalty, but he was apparently successful in frightening both men off. Alas, my respite was all too short for, when my baby was about 2 years old, Mr. Reynolds being absent with his faithful servant, Uchita, and I myself dining out, little Cynthia was stolen from our house in Santa Barbara, and with her the ruby ring.

"Then began another search in the name of Myron. Mr. Gaines thought Mr. Reynolds made the mistake of not taking the man more fully into his confidence, allowing him to suppose with the rest of the world that she was his own daughter. Mr. Gaines discovered the truth of the kidnapping, and that the child had been abducted by Ramon or Mario Milana, and abetted by Walter. He also discovered that Ramon and the old woman who sheltered the child in a border town in Mexico, had outwitted Walter, substituting a strange child and carrying little Cynthia to a convent in the Argentine.

"Why did we not immediately bring her home? The answer is not difficult to understand. My husband's pride had received a crushing blow, and his feelings were also deeply involved, for he loved the child as if she were his own. The perfidy on the part of his oldest son was more than he could bear, the thought of the attending publicity, scandal and gossip was too much to consider. He directed us to consider the child as dead, promising me that a way would still be found to outwit Walter and bring our daughter home.

"Years passed and no opportunity came. We kept in close touch with our child, knew that Ramon, under the name of Frank Shapiro, was caring for her needs; that the Sisters guarded her carefully; that Reynolds repeatedly sent money to the convent in the name of an unknown friend for Carolina Mendez, for so Ramon had called her. The Sisters kept the secret of these gifts, but the Old Mother Superior alone knew the whole story.

"I'm closing I can only add that I am still waiting to recover my little SWEETHEART, for so my husband and I always called her. I treasure the only child ever born to me. I may also say a word in defense of Ramon. Milana, my child's father, a man more sinned against than sinning. Ramon has told me that he never really meant to desert me. He was merely weak and an inveterate gambler, and I am certain that but for Walter he would not have committed such a sin as to kidnap his own daughter from her mother. During the years that SWEETHEART had been in the convent, he has cared faithfully for her. I have no bitterness in my heart towards him. I ceased to love or trust this man long ago. Mr. Reynolds has made me supremely happy. Life has been full of compensation and more blessings than I have ever deserved, and I still hope to regain my daughter.

"That," said Mr. Burns, following the silence caused by the reading of this letter, "is Mrs. Cynthia Reynolds' statement. I will let you hear Mr. Reynolds' story next."

He opened the second document and read:

"My wife's complete statement concerning her previous marriage, divorce, her subsequent marriage to me, the birth of our child, my abduction of this child, together with the full part played by my oldest son Walter and the Milana brothers is absolutely correct and written with my consent and co-operation. All papers necessary to establish legal facts will be found in my locked box, under the care of my partner and brother-in-law, John Carr. It is my wish that should the child be returned through the efforts of Ramon Milana, that he be not reimbursed for all money spent upon SWEETHEART, but in addition receive the sum of $10,000. I can never forget that this lovely child, who at once so brightened and saddened my life, came to me through him, and I tell that my wife would wish me to make such a provision. This is my final statement concerning my adopted daughter, Cynthia Milana Reynolds."

As Burns folded the paper his audience was startled by the sound of a sob so deep and vibrant that it seemed as if it must fairly tear a strong frame asunder, and Ramon Milana rose trembling to his feet, his face buried in his hands, and staggered toward the door. Subdued as his action was, Carolina, her face bathed in tears was there before him, her arms encircled about him.

"My Father!" she cried. "my Father! You were good to me in Mexico, you tried to help me. I am not afraid of you. Please let me see you sometimes—I shall always understand and forgive."

A second and he rushed her to him, a storm of kisses fell upon her young, sweet lips. Then, as abruptly he released her and strode from the room, his brother in his wake, and Paul, close at her side, received her, weeping and led her tenderly, reverently, back to her room.

Walter was on his feet now, his face stormy.

"What he cried defiantly, 'I suppose you think I'm licked!'"

"Licked," his young protegee who had been so successfully masquerading as Cynthia Reynolds Jr. broke in. "I'll tell the world you're a busted balloon! Where do I get off, you bum, tell me that!" Her voice rose in a shrill crescendo.

Mrs. Reynolds tore her eyes from Sweetheart long enough to reassure Walter's unfortunate tool.

"My dear," she said very gently, "don't worry. It is not your fault that Walter Reynolds tried to deceive us all. You are in no way to blame, and if you will come home with Sweetheart we will both try to make some happy arrangement for you. Nobody is angry with you, my little girl! And life will still hold happiness for one so young and pretty."

The girl met Cynthia's gaze, and had the grace to blush.

"Oh, well," she said shamefacedly, "don't bother. You're a good woman, though, and I'm glad you got your own kid. You needn't worry about me. I got folks in Tuhana. I guess I'll be going along. And with a brave little nod she sailed gaily from the room, her head high.

"We'll see that the child is provided for," Carr assured Cynthia. "Have you anything else to say, Walter?" If not, we can bear the thought of being relieved of your company."

Walter's wife, who had remained silent throughout, was heard for the first time.

"We're going now," she said with a determination no one could mistake, "and Walter won't bother you again unless he does it over my dead body! Come on!" She took rough hold of him. "Go while the going's good!"

The door closed upon them, and those remaining in the office of Burns and Hittart breathed deep sighs of relief.

"Now then," Mr. Carr went on, "I want to hear from Gaines."

"And from Paul," Mrs. Reynolds broke in, raising her face from where it nestled against her daughter's cheek. "Paul gets the reward, doesn't he?" She held out a hand to her stepson. You'll forgive me for deceiving you, won't you, dear boy? I couldn't make myself known on the train. I needed your clear head too much. I expected of course to take Sweetheart home with me immediately, and Mrs. Rogers' car was waiting to meet my friend, who acted as Adjutant Joseph, and myself. The car was there, and we had in it to Santa Barbara, changing our clothes in the station waiting room. You can guess how I suffered when the child was whisked away by Mario—the whole terrible episode of his stroke, or what it was, completely demoralized me. Had it not been for Mr. Gaines' comforting presence I should have gone mad, but she was so calm and helpful, so sure that he could safeguard the child! Then, too, I remembered the $1000 in gold which Uchita had taken down to his confederate Sako."

"So that money was from you?" Paul interrupted excitedly. "Gaines thought so, and it certainly did the trick! The old woman stepped right into the noose, that is how we caught her, but what she did not foresee was Walter's string of paid bandits who trapped Gaines and the Milana so that they dared not escape for fear of turning them in pursuit of Carolina!"

"He paused, then said softly, 'I mean Sweetheart. I think Cynthia,' he turned directly to Mrs. Reynolds, "that this reward should be given to Gaines, Uchita and Sako. They really saved my little girl in the end, though I'm convinced that Milana acted in good faith, intending to return her immediately to you!"

"Are you claiming any reward, Paul?" John Carr asked. "It seems to me you've earned your full share!"

Paul's eyes rested upon the dark head pressed against her mother's breast, and his reply was quite irrelevant.

"If only," he said, and then more impressively, "if only he hadn't cut her hair! And then turning crimson, he attempted to answer his uncle, and finding no words available upon the subject in question, took refuge in another question still unanswered in his mind.

"About the rings," he said. "Something was read or spoken about Ferdinand and Isabella, Blake and I examined them with care. We saw no such identification, although he was sure that these were the famous treasures of that royal pair."

"There is a trick to the rings," Cynthia hastened to his rescue, "both stones unswerving in their surface setting. Sweetheart, dear, but me should slip the rings into her mother's hand, but her eye did not meet Paul's. She couldn't look at him yet—she couldn't!"

"See," Mrs. Reynolds carefully unwound the rings, and the group in the office gathered closely about her.

The engraving beneath the stones was fine, but deeply cut and legible beneath the magnifying glass which Gaines brought to their aid. Translated into English it read:

"Ferdinand to Isabella" A. D. 1499 and

"Isabella to Ferdinand" A. D. 1499

"And now," Hittart said, when the rings had been admired and examined over, "it's my turn! There are a lot of small points to clear up before this lawyer can rest. First, how did the ring get beneath the seat of section four three?"

"It dropped there from my finger," Mrs. Reynolds explained.

"Then you took it from Mario Milana, while he lay in the stupor?" How did you know he had it?"

"I did not know. I could only guess. I had seen Mario on the train, and felt certain that he did not recognize me. I had also, to my consternation, seen Walter and his wife, and had had to use all my ingenuity to keep out of their way, feeling sure that Walter was far more likely to recognize me than Paul."

"Who was your companion?" Paul asked.

"A nurse who has often cared for me, a good woman. It was through her efforts that we secured the Salvation Army uniforms. She is at my house in Santa Barbara now, waiting for news!"

"Do go back to the ring! You saw Mario come into the car, just as you told the conductor?"

"Yes, and recognized that there was something the matter with him. I remembered that Marie had told me of his seizures, narcolepsy is the name of the disease. I spent hours trying to decide what to do, for I had tried in vain to make Sweetheart confide in me the matter of the ring, and she would not speak!" She stopped to kiss her long-lost daughter. "I remembered, too, that Ramon had never been willing to finger the Sweetheart ring upon his wife, but kept it always on a chain about his neck."

Gray Fox Is Timid

Without a cause the timid feel, And this is silly, you'll agree.

—Reddy Fox.

"Where are we to hunt?" asked Gray Fox.

REDDY FOX and Mrs. Reddy had at last made the acquaintance of their cousin, Gray Fox. He had told them how he had happened to come to the Green Forest. He had been living farther south, but the wandering spirit had entered into him and he had started to travel. So little by little he had come farther and farther, until at last he had reached the Green Forest.

"I like it here," said Gray Fox. "and I mean to stay. Yes, sir, I like it here and I'm going to make my home here."

Reddy and Mrs. Reddy were not particularly delighted with the news. They felt that there were people enough in the Green Forest and on the Green Meadows. They knew that one more would make it just so much harder for them to get a living. So, having made the acquaintance of Gray Fox, they were satisfied to have as little to do with him as possible. They would like to have driven him off, but this they couldn't do.

They soon discovered that Gray Fox preferred the Green Forest. He was often in the Old Pasture, but seldom on the Green Meadows. Now Reddy and Mrs. Reddy did a great deal of their hunting on the Green Meadows, so it suited them very well to have Gray Fox stay in the Green Forest. They noticed that he kept away from Farmer Brown's dooryard. Reddy and Mrs. Reddy often went up there in the night, but they never saw Gray Fox there, and they wondered why.

But it wasn't long before they discovered that Gray Fox was very timid. As long as he could get a living in the Green Forest he would take no chances of being chased by Bowser the Hound.

"He's afraid," said Reddy, scornfully. "I believe that fellow is afraid of his own shadow. The other day I stepped on a dry twig near him and he jumped and ran as if frightened half to death. It is all right to run from real danger, but it is silly to be afraid of everything. Never have I seen such a fellow. He is a disgrace to the Fox family."

"Let's invite him to go with us on a hunt," said Mrs. Reddy. "We'll lead him towards Farmer Brown's henhouse and see what happens."

Reddy chuckled. "I know what will happen," said he. "We'll try it just for fun."

So they hunted up their cousin, Gray Fox, and invited him to go hunting with them that evening. Gray Fox said he would be very pleased to go with them. So, after the Black Shadows had crept all through the Green Forest and 38,000 St. Louis women have found that the quickest and most economical way of washing clothes is to use soft soap. One 5c Staufer's Washing Tablet dissolved in a quart of hot water makes a full quart. Get a 5c tablet from your grocer and prove it for yourself.

Make your own soap—5c a quart

If you live outside St. Louis send 10c for ten tablets—enough for 10 gallons soap. Staufer's Laundry Tablet Co., St. Louis.

DO'S AND DON'TS —For— SUCCESS IN BUSINESS

By NELLIE E. GARDNER

Starting at the Top.

THE old notion about 'starting at the bottom' has been somewhat exploded by individual experiences of recent years.

Many young men and women get the idea that they can start in business for themselves—without waiting for the long promotion from office boy to presidency! And their success proves the truth of the assumption.

If one has brains, executive ability, push and persistence, there is no reason why he cannot be successful in a business venture. Experience is an asset, of course, but lacking this experience need not be the excuse for failure.

For every kind of business, some expert advice is available. Pride should never stand between one and the acquisition of this advice.

The people whom you employ, if wisely chosen, can directly or indirectly give you advice. If you are investing your money in business with which you are not entirely familiar, one of the best moves, at the start, is to employ helpers who have been thoroughly trained in this line of work.

Are you putting your money into a millinery shop, tearoom or lingerie and gift shop? Then if you are not well-grounded in this branch of merchandise, salesmanship or service, choose someone who is, for your first assistant.

Farmers used to think there was some great mystery about banking.

City bankers may have thought there was some magic about farming.

But about the only recipe for success in any line of endeavor is hard work, and studying what other people want and giving it to them.

Keen intuition is oftentimes more useful than long experience. And intuition is a quality youth sometimes possesses to a greater extent than age. Youth is not hampered by traditions. Youth has not been robbed of his enthusiasms. Youth is not deaf to suggestions. Youth is not afraid of innovations.

Youth has courage. And if you are to choose one trait, above all others, as you launch your business ship, let it be courage. Without courage you can never get very far, even though you start at the very bottom and strive for years. With courage, you can start at the top, and build new heights!

THE RHYMING OPTIMIST

By ALINE MICHAELS

Be Glad.

A H, be glad when dawn's prime-rose comes breaking up the slope of the pale eastern sky, when the world to a new day is waking while the night with its shadows drifts by. And be glad of the noontide's endeavor, with Earth's tumult and toil at its crest; be glad of man's striving forever up, up through long centuries' quest. Still be glad when the shadows are falling (labor ends) when dusk's mists slowly creep; and the Night like a mother is calling as she lulls all Earth's children to sleep. Ah, be glad, trusting heart, still unshaken through all changes and chances of time; still serene, with each new day to waken to a faith yet more dearly spoken.

NOTES ABOUT WOMEN

The Catholic Daughters of America propose building a $2,000,000 hotel for working women in New York City.

In Finland no trade or profession is closed to women and they are engaged as tramway mechanics, engineers, architects, doctors, dentists and lawyers.

Miss Essie E. Conway, an English school teacher, has been made "Commander of the Most Excellent Order of the British Empire," an honor heretofore accorded only to diplomats, philanthropists and generals.

Mrs. Beatrice Farrand, consulting landscape gardener to Yale University since 1912, has been granted the honorary degree of Master of Arts, privately, by the Yale Corporation. University authorities stated that her services had been particularly valuable in the completion of the buildings recently erected at Yale.

Clear Your Skin in five minutes

If your skin is dull, mottled, lifeless, and if you are troubled with blackheads of different kinds, the cause is almost certainly clogged pores. The natural oil of the skin has hardened and is accumulating impurities.

A five-minute treatment with FARRA will change all this. Farras is a dermatologically approved skin purgative. It is scientific, magic. Applied to the skin, it opens the pores, frees them of impurities, and lets the skin breathe. The result is a return of your natural, radiant bloom and complete freedom from freckles, blackheads and similar blemishes.

Think of it! Five minutes to clear your skin! Get a jar today. $2.00 at your drug store. Full directions with every jar.

THE HOME KITCHEN

By Jeanette Young Norton

Food Sanitation.
THE care of food from the time it is purchased until it reaches the family table is a matter of vital consideration. If improperly cared for, it becomes an economic loss that puts a dent in the budget system. If allowed to become contaminated with germ life, it is a menace and may result in food poisoning. Dust from the city streets abounds in germ life, and all vegetables and fruits should be washed carefully before using.
The refrigerator should be in the best condition, the waste pipe free and clear, racks, if metal, washed and kept clean, if wooden, sun-dried occasionally to keep them sweet. A steady stock of ice must be maintained to keep the box at the right preservative temperature. Butter should be kept in a glass or china container and kept covered, milk and cream in covered bottles, eggs boxed and rinsed before using. All the canned foods should be removed at once from the can and be placed in a china container, covered and placed in a cool place until used.
Fish should be rinsed when it arrives, dusted with pepper and a little salt, wrapped in waxed or the new vegetable paper and be placed next to the ice. Meats should be carefully inspected and placed in a china or enamel dish in a cold place until cooked. Do not leave meat where there can be any fly contamination, or put it away in blood-soaked papers.
All cooking utensils should be carefully washed; every little dried fleck or lump of food left may become germ infected and contaminate the next food that is cooked in the vessel. Even if a pot or pan looks clean, rinse it well before using. Wash out all dish towels after each meal. Put out dish cloths and mops daily, throw them away and get new ones often. Keep hand soap and towel in the kitchen and insist that the cook use them before starting to prepare a meal, or before she handles any newly arrived foods.
Warm over a food but once. Cover all leftovers before putting them in the cold chamber of the icebox. Do not allow roast turkey or chicken to stand on the bones more than two days. Remove all meat, putting it into a china bowl and covering it until used. The racks, if sweet, may be used in soup stock with other bones and ingredients.
If potatoes are boiled in their jackets they will keep better for use in salads or other dishes. Carrots and parsnips should be scraped instead of being peeled. Jerusalem artichokes may be pared thinly under water. Oyster plant should also be scraped and celery should be carefully washed and trimmed. Squash, winter variety, must be washed well if cooked in the skin or peeled. Beets are boiled and skinned with the hands under cold water. All lettuce should be carefully washed leaf by leaf. Cauliflower should stand in salted cold water for 20 minutes.

SAYINGS OF MRS. SOLOMON

By HELEN ROWLAND

Oh, the Difference to Thee!

MY daughter. Let NO man persuade thee that courtship is but a rehearsal for matrimony!
For, verily, since the first kiss in the Garden of Eden, every lover hath said, "Others may change—but OURS shall be an eternal honeymoon!"
And the sleeves of the cynics have been filled with laughter.
For, alas, between being a fiancée and being a wife, there are ninety and nine differences!
Yea, even the difference between a lingering cigarette-kiss and a hasty coffee-kiss.
And the difference between ordering from the a la carte side of the menu—and ordering from the table d'hôte side.
The difference between sending a man home at 12 p. m.—and PRYING him out of the house at 8:00 a. m.
Between watching him tip the waiter a dollar—and lending him a quarter to make up the change.
Between being told that thou art dazingly beautiful—and being told that thy shoulder strap is slipping or thy back hem is ripping.
Between knowing that a man is filled with impatience to SEE thee—and knowing that he is champing with impatience because he must WAIT for thee.
Between holding hands and watching the moon—and holding thy breath and watching the taxicab meter.
Between putting up thy face to see "how nice and smooth" a man's cheek is—and putting up thy hand to see "if it is rough enough to require a shave."
Between being tenderly helped across a busy street—and being anxiously PUSHED across it.
Between putting flowers in a man's coat-lapel—and putting patches in his pockets.
Between listening for his ring at 8:00 p. m.—and hearkening for his latchkey at 12 g. m.
Unto a man, there may seem no difference between the glamour of romance and the sweet complacency of marriage.
But, of the difference to THEE!

Seen Along Fifth Avenue

Sweaters and skirts are again smart, the two-piece frock fathering the return of this fashion.
The smartest women are closely matching their gloves to their hosiery.
Few bright-colored coats are shown. Black, navy blue and grays are the predominating colors, and black satin is the most popular fabric.
Umbrellas are short and squat. Odd shapes and colorings are also featured.
The strictly tailored sports coat is sponsored by the smartest shops. These are either single or double-breasted, or camel's hair or other mannish mixtures. One model is distinctive for its two square pockets, the upper back corner of one overlapping the lower front corner of the other.

HOUSEHOLD SUGGESTIONS

A Change in Cereals.

When breakfast cereals begin to pall and prove tiresome, try serving boiled rice with cream, sugar and butter. It makes a pleasant change.

Can Be Avoided.

If you seem to have a great number of accidents in cooking by scorching food, invest in some asbestos mats, and when you are afraid you will spoil the dish, place the mat next to the flame, and your pan upon that. Then you are insured against scorching, and cooking will not seem so much of an effort.

Homely Facts.

Clean the oil paintings with a wool cloth moistened with olive oil.

Fine ashes mixed with turpentine are splendid for cleaning brass and steel.

Give your hands a daily bath in lemon juice to keep them soft and white during the winter months.

A little gasoline, in the water when scrubbing wooden floors will quickly eradicate grease spots.

Tears and holes should be mended before laundering if the garment is pretty well worn, otherwise the rubbing is apt to finish them.

Philosophical Phrasings

None grieve so ostentatiously as those who rejoice most in heart.—Tacitus.

So near is falsehood to truth that a wise man would do well not to trust himself on the narrow edge.—Cicero.

The moderation of fortunate people comes from the calm which good fortune gives to their tempers.

He who would reach the desired goal must, while a boy, suffer and labor much, and bear both heat and cold.—Horace.

Alas! how difficult it is to prevent the countenance from betraying guilt.—Ovid.

Your Excess Weight

Can be eliminated, as millions are now doing. No abnormal exercise or diet. Simply correct the internal cause in this easy, pleasant way.

Few are Fat
In these modern days

Note how slenderness prevails in every circle nowadays. Excess fat is not one-tenth so common as it was. Every idea of beauty, health and fitness calls for normal weight, and people are conforming.

All must realize that a new factor has appeared. People have found an easy, pleasant way to reduce, a scientific way. And the over-fat by millions are now gaining normal weight.

This is to tell you that method, to offer a test at our cost, then under our guarantee. You owe to yourself this knowledge if you suffer overweight.

Correct the Cause

The cause of excess fat usually lies in a certain gland. Correcting that condition stops the extra fat formation. Modern research has proved this beyond any question. All animals, all human beings respond to this treatment at once.

The treatment is embodied in its best in Marmola Prescription Tablets. They have been used for 18 years. The use has grown and grown, until people are now using over a million boxes yearly.

The use involves no abnormal exercise or diet. One simply takes four tablets daily, and lives a regular regime. When the weight returns to normal, stop Marmola. If excess fat appears again, check it at once in this way.
